32 Lose Lives in Airline Fire-Crash at Singapore

British Craft Skims Trees, Drops on Runway in Landing

Singapore, March 13 (AP) — A London-bound Qantas-Boac Airlines Constellation crashed and burned on landing at Singapore today. An airlines official said 32 of the 40 persons aboard, including one crewman, were killed.

Eight of the crew survived the flaming wreckage and are in a Singapore hospital.

The big four-engine plane, operated by a British Commonwealth company, was coming in from Jakarta, Indonesia, where it had stopped on its, regularly scheduled flight from Sydney, Australia, to London.

Crashes on Runway

It crashed at the end of the runway after skimming over rooftops on a normal approach for the landing. Flames enveloped the plane and roared out of control for more than an hour.

When the blaze was quelled, the firemen broke into the plane with axes to pull out the charred remains of the victims.

Some of the injured crewmen in the forward part of the plane managed to crawl to safety. One of these was the stewardess, Josephine Butler, who was said to be in serious condition.

Hears Two Explosions

Horrified eyewitnesses, including friends and relatives of some of those aboard, said they saw only one of the plane's retractable wheels come down as the constellation approached. One witness said he heard two explosions as the plane hit the ground.

An ambulance rushing some of the survivors to a nearby hospital was involved in a road accident and the patients had to be transferred to a police radio car for the rest of the trip.

May Quit on Son's Acts

Rome, March 13 (AP)—Scandal-shaken Italy was told today Foreign Minister Attilio Piccioni may quit because his son was implicated by testimony in the mystery death of party girl Wilma Montesi. Authoritative sources said there was a sharp debate within the government whether the veteran Christian Democrat leader's resignation should be accepted. The decision reportedly is up to Premier Mario Scelba himself. The scandal has shaken Scelba's new cabinet badly already. Piero Piccioni, the foreign minister's son, was said by playgirl Anna Maria Monet Caglio to have known "too much" about the Montesi girl, whose body washed up on Ostia's dark sands near Rome 11 months ago.

Senator to Speak Tonight

Manitowoc, Wis., March 13 (AP)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R.-Wis.) fresh from a round of clashes with the army in Washington, is due to deliver an off-the-cuff speech tonight before a Manitowoc group of businessmen. The senator, who arrived by plane at Milwaukee last night in a sleet storm, said he had no prepared text, but that the speech probably would review the work of his controversial Senate investigating subcommittee. The senator said he would return to Washington tonight.

Mombaccus Casino Destroyed by Fire Early Friday Night

Tentative Loss Estimated Near $30,000; Building in Flames When Firemen Arrive

A large casino on the Herman Rubin boardinghouse property at Mombaccus, near Accord, was destroyed by fire Friday evening.

Chief Howard Anderson of the Accord Fire Department said tentative loss estimates ranged from $25,000 to $30,000. The figure includes about $10,000 or $12,000 worth of furniture that had been stored in the building.

Others Threatened

The fire was discovered about 7:15 p. m. Friday. The entire structure was in flames when Accord firemen arrived after a seven-mile run up the Samsonville road from their firehouse, and other buildings on the property were threatened, Chief Anderson said.

A call was placed at 7:55 p. m. through Mutual Aid Headquarters in Kingston for assistance in protecting the nearby buildings, and Kerhonkson Fire Department was dispatched under Chief Stanley Decker.

Cause Not Determined

Because of the total destruction of the building firemen were unable to determine the cause of the blaze, Chief Anderson said.

The two-story frame building, originally a barn, had been extensively renovated and was used during the summer as a recreation room and also contained some living quarters.

At the time of the fire the building was unoccupied. One caretaker was employed during the winter off-season, and he lived in another building on the property, the fire chief said.

Three Cop Killers Hunted in Bank Robbery of $97,700

Policemen Are Cut Down by Bandits Without Chance to Return Gunfire

Seattle, March 13 (AP)—Three cold-blooded bank robbers who shot their way through a police trio, killing one and wounding two others, were the objects of a virtually clueless search throughout the Pacific Northwest today.

The policemen never fired a shot yesterday morning as they were cut down by the three men who had just finished robbing the Greenwood Bank of $97,000—$90,800 of which they dropped in their getaway.

The bandits, wearing horn-rimmed spectacles and false noses which some bystanders first thought were part of a joke, entered the bank at 10:40 a. m.

One Stands Guard

One stood guard at the front entrance; another prodded a gun in the back of bank manager Kenneth McElhaney and told him to head for the vaults, and the third walked to the tellers' cages where he scooped great fistfulls of money into a shopping bag.

An employe pressed a concealed alarm bar with his foot and three policemen in one-man patrol cars responded — their sirens screaming as they neared the bank.

"George, somebody's sounded the alarm," one bandet shouted as he ran toward the front lobby. Police Sgt. Howard Slessman, shotgun at his side, was running through the outer door. The ban-

Indochina Railway Blasted by Rebels To Cut Supplies

64-Mile Route Important Link Between Hanoi and Coastline for Materiel

Hanoi, Indochina, March 13 (AP)—Striking at the center of France's north Indochina defense bastion, the Vietminh last night blasted in five places the railway linking Hanoi with the coast and overpowered several forts guarding the vital supply route.

The 64-mile railway and road paralleling it are considered the lifeline of the Indochina fight. The bulk of the U. S.-supplied war equipment is moved over the route. Airlifts are the only other means of supplying the main French forces in the north.

A French Army spokesman said the Communist-led rebels blew up stretches of the rail line with electrically detonated mines near the village of Ban Ennhan, 18 miles east of Hanoi.

In a coordinated drive they also swooped down on a string of Vietnamese-manned watchtowers and small forts. Some of the posts fell, the French said.

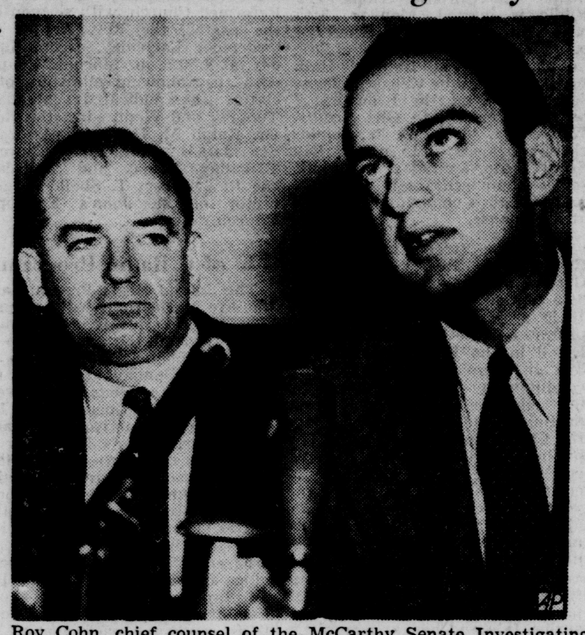

Clashes Reported

French and armored cars were rushed in, and clashes were reported with Vietminh regional soldiers. It was believed the rebel troops were from Kesa and Hung Yen, 25 to 30 miles southeast of Hanoi.

This was the first time in three years or more that Vietminh

Cohn Denies Pressuring Army

Roy Cohn, chief counsel of the McCarthy Senate Investigating subcommittee, denies at a news conference in Washington, March 12, that he used improper influence on the Army in behalf of G. Nixon to Answer Adlai As McCarthy Fight Rages

Won't Dodge Issues in Speech Set for 10:30 Over Networks

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Vice President Nixon states the case for the Republican administration tonight in a radio-television address while a family fight rages within the GOP over Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) and some of his investigative aides.

Yesterday McCarthy bitterly protested Army Department officials had attempted to "blackmail" his investigations subcommittee into dropping a probe of the army. He made public a document that represented Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens as trying to divert the group's attention to a search for wrongdoing in the navy, air force and Defense Department.

Stevens and John G. Adams, the army's general counsel, retorted that such accusations were untrue. McCarthy had said Adams told him several months ago a report embarrassing to the subcommittee would be made public unless an investigation of the army were called off.

Adams labeled the blackmail charge "fantastic and false," and Stevens likewise used "fantastic" to describe the idea that he would "do other than uphold the hand of the army, the navy, the air force and the Defense Department."

Want the Truth

Before the day was over some Republicans as well as Democrats in the Senate were demanding investigations to determine who is telling the truth in the crossfire of accusations.

Nixon had been designated last Monday to deliver the party's reply to criticism by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee. One of Stevenson's thrusts was a description of the GOP as "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower."

President Eisenhower had backed Stevens when, after an earlier round with McCarthy, the secretary said he would protect army witnesses against any "abuse" at the hands of investigating committees.

The explosion that again shattered the peace between Stevens and McCarthy came when Senate sources yesterday made public an army report saying efforts were made to get special treatment for G. David Schine, an unpaid consultant to McCarthy's subcommittee, after Schine was inducted last November as a private.

Threats Alleged

The report cited instances when McCarthy had allegedly exerted pressure on army department officials and his subcommittee's chief counsel, Roy Cohn, allegedly had used threats.

McCarthy's retort of "blackmail" was accompanied by memoranda he said came from the subcommittee files and depicted officials trying to sidetrack probes of army matters.

Nixon said he will "not dodge the issues" in tonight's speech, which will be carried at 10:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, over CBS television and radio networks and those NBC stations which carried Stevenson's address a week ago.

But the vice president kept his own counsel as to the exact strategy he will use. There was no advance text of his speech. He left it open for any revision deemed necessary up to the moment of delivery. But he discussed his plans in a 45-minute conference yesterday with Eisenhower.

One congressional leader, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the vice president probably will name McCarthy specifically in his talk. This leader said there was no doubt that Nixon would cite President Eisenhower's legislative program as the big issue before the nation and would dispute Stevenson's contention that the administration has embraced "McCarthyism" as a campaign issue.

The administration line that appeared to be emerging was that McCarthy's methods of investigating alleged Communists are only a passing and sometimes unfortunate phase in the overall job of running the government:

Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), one of Eisenhower's original 1952 supporters, said in an interview he believes the President's program is being imperiled by the controversy over McCarthy which has cut deep into the Republican party.

"If we don't stop this thing, there isn't going to be any program," Duff declared. "I think the country is fed up with the McCarthy wrangle—at least my mail indicates it is."

"McCarthy has overshot his mark," Duff declared. He added that the army report on Cohn's activities seemed to him to be reasonable.

And criticism of McCarthy by Republicans reached even into his own subcommittee. Sen. Dirksen of Illinois accused McCarthy yesterday of breaking an agreement among GOP members by releasing the memoranda in answer to

Nebraska Takes Brunt of Early Storm; Snow, Winds and Hail Buffet Five States

(By The Associated Press)

A snowstorm moved northeast out of Colorado and Kansas today, wetting down clouds of dust that had reduced visibility to zero in parts of five states. The blizzard dumped up to 10 inches of snow in its wake.

As the storm progressed, winds that had buffeted the Plains states with gusts up to 100 miles an hour diminished. But hail borne by a howling wind and accompanied by lightning lashed Grand Rapids, Mich.

Nebraska bore the brunt in the early stages as the storm substituted snow for dust in its drive across the midcontinent.

Snow to depths of 10 inches was reported at Chadron in western Nebraska. The Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. reported 1,630 long line circuits out in Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota. It said 3,600 farm phones were out of service in the three states.

In Kansas City, the weather bureau said the storm would move northeast through Iowa and Minnesota into Wisconsin and Michigan, and eastward out of Oklahoma and Texas. The weatherman said some rain was in prospect north of a line extending roughly eastward from St. Joseph, Mo., northeast of St. Louis to Cincinnati. He said falling temperatures were in prospect for the south as warm air gave way to cold.

High winds continued to buffet Missouri last night, fanning dozens of forest fires, some covering more than 500 acres each.

The State Conservation Commission said the worst danger was in southwestern Missouri, where more than 20 fires raged.

Dust blown in from the plains states hampered fire watchers in planes and towers.

In Kansas, whose wheat plains fed the dust storm, two died in a traffic mishap blamed on the storm. Scores of lesser accidents were reported.

The dust got so thick on the Oklahoma A. & M. basketball court at Stillwater that it had to be brushed off after every quarter in a regional tournament of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

And to the south, in Texas, the dust also continued to cause trouble.

Dry weather prevailed over most areas west of the Rockies. The only wet spots over the Atlantic coast states were in sections of Virginia and Maryland which reported light rain and drizzle. Showers hit the Gulf area, with fog in sections of the coast.

Temperatures early today ranged from the teens in the north and central plans to the 70s in the Gulf area. Some readings included Jackson, Mass., 71; Denver 15; Bismarck, N. D. 11; Pittsburgh, 40; New York 40; Nashville, 73; Miami, 74; Fort Worth, 61; Los Angeles, 51; Seattle, 33, and Chicago, 34.

Two U.S. Planes Attacked Near Czech-German Line

Flanders Calls Tax Cut Plan Phony, Expensive Method

Claims Raising Exemptions Would Mean Only 'Peanuts' to Low Wage Earners

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R.-Vt.) today characterized as "an expensive phony" a plan of Sen. George (D.-Ga.) to cut individual income taxes by sharply raising exemptions for each taxpayer and his dependents.

Flanders made the remark in an interview as Republicans in both the Senate and House sought to tighten their lines against the Democratic drive to raise the exemptions.

The Vermont senator, who serves on the tax-writing Finance Committee, said the George proposal would mean only "peanuts" to low-income taxpayers.

Gives Example

For instance, he said, the benefit would be only 80 cents a week to an individual in the low wage bracket with no dependents.

But George's plan would be expensive to the government, he said, costing 4½ billion dollars in revenue this year, and about eight billion in succeeding years.

The veteran southerner, who is senior Democrat on the Finance Committee, proposes to boost exemptions from the present $600 to $800 this year, and to $1,500 for 1955 and thereafter.

Meanwhile, it seemed clear that the administration's tax strategy on Capitol Hill would be to let 912 million dollars of excise tax cuts voted by the House Wednesday slide through the Senate without a serious fight, and to concentrate on beating the income tax exemption increases.

Will Hold Hearing

The Senate Finance Committee is to conduct hearings on the excise measure next week. It will hear Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's testimony in opposition to the cuts Wednesday.

However, key committee members said privately they knew of

Court Rules Race Probe Has Right To Demand Books

Decision Makes Certain Committees Have Subpoena Power in Cases

Albany, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—The Court of Appeals holds that the Moreland Act Commission that has been investigating harness racing has full power to require witnesses to produce books and records.

In a 6-1 decision yesterday, the state's highest tribunal rejected the appeal of five residents of the New York city area from whom the commission had demanded all bank books, cancelled checks, records of stock transactions and other information regarding Yonkers Raceway stock.

The decision is largely academic now, since the commission had completed its public hearings and the five appeared as witnesses. However, the court thus established that such investigating bodies had that power.

The five were Burton D. Chait, in whose name Raceway stock was listed; his parents, Sarah and Abraham Chait; Sidney Ellis, a garment manufacturer, and Edwin Alexander, counsel for the Chaits.

Issue Is on 'Dummy'

One of the points at issue was whether Burton Chait held the stock as a "dummy."

In New York, George Trosk, general counsel of the commission, commented:

"It's a very important decision with respect to powers of the Moreland Commission and government investigative agencies generally in their issuance of subpoenaes."

He expressed some doubt, however, whether the commission, which completed public hearings into harness racing this week, would pursue the Chait case further.

Trosk told an interviewer his present feeling was that there was nothing further to be ex-

Government to Act if Total Fails to Drop in March

Washington, March 13 (AP)—National unemployment, continuing its rise, reached 3,671,000 in February, by the latest government count.

It's anybody's guess whether the key March figure—published next month—will show the decline hoped for by President Eisenhower.

The President said some weeks ago that if the March jobless total fails to drop he wil consider government action, including possible tax relief, to buoy the economy.

The census reported yesterday that unemployment, as measured by a new sampling method, rose 584,000 in February.

Another sampling method, which Secretary of Commerce Sinclair weeks said the Census Bureau is abandoning, showed February unemployment up 1,026,000 to a total of 3,385,000.

Comparisons

The 3,671,000 new-sample jobless figure compares with 1,788,000 for February 1953, the lowest post-World War 2 total, and 4,684,000 for February 1950, the highest postwar count. February employment was put at 60,051,000—up 298,000 from the previous month.

There were substantial discrepancies between the two sets of figures—for instance, the new sample reported an 885,000 February increase in the civilian labor force while the old sample showed a 1,354,000 increase. The new sample indicated a 120,000 decline in non-farm employment but the old one registered a 47,000 increase.

Both methods involve checks at 25,000 households, but the new sampling is taken over a much wider area than the old.

Climbs Since October

Whatever the reason for the varying figures—and the Census Bureau said it couldn't give any right now—it appeared that unemployment had climbed anywhere from 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 in the four months since October, when 1,162,000 were reported as jobless.

The February jobless jump was sure to touch off new controversy about the condition of the nation's economy. The CIO, waiting with a statement when the census figures were announced, called the new total "a disgrace to America."

"It is essential," the CIO added, "that the government stop whistling in the dark about the economic problems facing every American, and get to work, now,

Market Retreats After New 24-Year High Is Recorded

New York, March 13 (AP)—The stock market inched up to a new 24-year high this week and then retreated.

With only a gentle nudge, the market as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks broke through a new 1953-54 peak, highest level for the average since 1930.

There were no fireworks involved in the final maneuver. Professional traders took the whole thing in stride.

Many in Wall Street felt, however, that the general investing public might attach weighty significance to the new record and come rushing into the market.

New high marks, no matter how established, seem to have a fatal fascination for the public. Brokers were quick to caution their customers with the old Wall Street reminder—you don't buy the stock market, you buy stocks. And they were highly selective in their suggestions for purchases and sales of securities.

Let's consider the market through the yardstick of the Associated Press average of 60 stocks.

On Thursday it gained 30 cents and reached $116.40, passing the previous 1953-54 high by 10 cents and reaching the highest levels since June 4 of 1930 when it stood at $116.60.

How high is that in relation to the big boom in 1929? Well, at the zenith of the great excitement, the Associated Press average hit $157.70 on Sept. 3, 1929. Then it broke in the greatest crash in history of securities. The average dropped to $83.80 before it caught its breath. Those are the extremes for that year.

The market rebounded from its low and climbed ahead into 1930 in a general recovery movement. It reached as high as $125.50 before it fell again. It was a long climb back, and now 24 years later the market is at the June, 1930, level again.

Losses Wiped Out

The more recent history of the stock market shows that it hit a top a year ago last January and then staggered lower as the Korean war ended. That phase ended in mid-September when the market staged a sharp recovery drive right up to the present, in six months wiping out losses of

Arrested at Phone For Death Threat

New York, March 13 (AP)—A Puerto Rican Nationalist was arrested last night while telephoning the FBI about his plans to kill President Eisenhower.

Police identified him as Jose Rivera Colon, 30, an itinerant paint sprayer. He is to be arraigned today on charges of threatening the President.

While FBI men talked to Colon on the telephone, his call was traced and police rushed to the drugstore booth to pick him up before the call ended.

Police files showed Colon had once been committed to a mental institution. The FBI said he told them he would kill the President "in the next couple of months."

Pilots Take Aircraft In Safely

Sixth Fleet Gives Order for Investigation of Charge They Flew in Vital Area

Munich, Germany, March 13 (AP)—Two American navy carrier-based planes were attacked by a Communist MIG near the Czech-German border yesterday. Czechoslovakia charged immediately that they had flown over its vital uranium-producing center at Jachymov, 35 miles inside the Iron Curtain and fired the first shot.

The navy said one of the two American propeller-driven planes was damaged but both pilots managed to bring their aircraft safely down at Neubiberg airbases in the American zone of Germany near Munich.

A navy spokesman in London said an investigation into the shootings was ordered by the U. S. Sixth Fleet. He said first reports showed empty aviation ammunition cartridges were found on German soil after the attack. One American spokesman in Munich said, however, the planes had "inadvertently" crossed into Czech territory. Clouds covered much of the frontier area over which they were flying.

On Routine Flight

The navy said the two planes were on a routine training flight off the Essex-class carrier Randolph. The Randolph is attached to the Sixth Fleet, which is the backbone of the NATO naval defense system.

The planes had been flying over the American zone of Austria, just at its junction with the German state of Bavaria and Czechoslovakia.

The two navy pilots still were at the Neubiberg airbase this morning, but the commanding officer there said he was ordered to answer no questions concerning the incident. He refused to identify the pilots or permit newsmen to see them.

Same Frontier

The clash occurred over the same tense East-West frontier where MIG fighters attacked two American Air Force F84 Thunderjets March 10, 1953, shooting down one. Two days after the loss of the Thunderjet, Soviet fighters

20 West Nations Will Cast Votes On Warning Reds

Dulles Certain American Powers to Stand Pat on Keeping Out Communism

Caracas, Venezuela, March 13 (AP)—A warning to international Communists to keep their hands off the western hemisphere was set for a decisive vote today by the 20 American nations attending the tenth inter-American conference here.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, virtually assured of a major diplomatic victory in getting approval of an anti-Red resolution, planned to leave for Washington this afternoon.

A majority of the nations meeting here threw their support to the Dulles proposals for united action to prevent international Communists from gaining a foothold in the Americas.

Demand Amendments

Some, however, demanded amendments to the U. S. draft resolution which would spell out more specifically a guarantee that this would not permit intervention into the internal affairs of any one state.

Guatemala, accused by U. S. officials in Washington of being Communist dominated, has fought a bitter, lone battle against such a declaration by the conference. That country's representatives here deny their government is under Red influence and claim they are fighting for democracy.

Dulles led the fight for passage of his resolution calling on American states to take joint action whenever any one of their number falls under international Communist influence.

Mexico Leads Way

Mexico led the way in trying to get the proposed resolution amended to call for joint action only if a country were threatened by outside agents. Several coun-

French and armored cars were rushed in, and clashes were reported with Vietminh regional soldiers. It was believed the rebel troops were from Kesa and Hung Yen, 25 to 30 miles southeast of Hanoi.

This was the first time in three years or more that Vietminh

Cohn Denies Pressuring Army

Nixon to Answer Adlai As McCarthy Fight Rages

Won't Dodge Issues in Speech Set for 10:30 Over Networks

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Vice President Nixon states the case for the Republican administration tonight in a radio-television address while a family fight rages within the GOP over Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) and some of his investigative aides.

Yesterday McCarthy bitterly protested Army Department officials had attempted to "blackmail" his investigations subcommittee into dropping a probe of the army. He made public a document that represented Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens as trying to divert the group's attention to a search for wrongdoing in the navy, air force and Defense Department.

Stevens and John G. Adams, the army's general counsel, retorted that such accusations were untrue. McCarthy had said Adams told him several months ago a report embarrassing to the subcommittee would be made public unless an investigation of the army were called off.

Adams labeled the blackmail charge "fantastic and false," and Stevens likewise used "fantastic" to describe the idea that he would "do other than uphold the hand of the army, the navy, the air force and the Defense Department."

Want the Truth

Before the day was over some Republicans as well as Democrats in the Senate were demanding investigations to determine who is telling the truth in the crossfire of accusations.

Nixon had been designated last Monday to deliver the party's reply to criticism by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee. One of Stevenson's thrusts was a description of the GOP as "half McCarthy and half Eisenhower."

President Eisenhower had backed Stevens when, after an earlier round with McCarthy, the secretary said he would protect army witnesses against any "abuse" at the hands of investigating committees.

The explosion that again shattered the peace between Stevens and McCarthy came when Senate sources yesterday made public an army report saying efforts were made to get special treatment for G. David Schine, an unpaid consultant to McCarthy's subcommittee, after Schine was inducted last November as a private.

Threats Alleged

The report cited instances when McCarthy had allegedly exerted pressure on army department officials and his subcommittee's chief counsel, Roy Cohn, allegedly had used threats.

McCarthy's retort of "blackmail" was accompanied by memoranda he said came from the subcommittee files and depicted officials trying to sidetrack probes of army matters.

Nixon said he will "not dodge the issues" in tonight's speech, which will be carried at 10:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, over CBS television and radio networks and those NBC stations which carried Stevenson's address a week ago.

But the vice president kept his own counsel as to the exact strategy he will use. There was no advance text of his speech. He left it open for any revision deemed necessary up to the moment of delivery. But he discussed his plans in a 45-minute conference yesterday with Eisenhower.

One congressional leader, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the vice president probably will name McCarthy specifically in his talk. This leader said there was no doubt that Nixon would cite President Eisenhower's legislative program as the big issue before the nation and would dispute Stevenson's contention that the administration has embraced "McCarthyism" as a campaign issue.

The administration line that appeared to be emerging was that McCarthy's methods of investigating alleged Communists are only a passing and sometimes unfortunate phase in the overall job of running the government.

Sen. Duff (R-Pa.), one of Eisenhower's original 1952 supporters, said in an interview he believes the President's program is being imperiled by the controversy over McCarthy which has cut deep into the Republican party.

"If we don't stop this thing, there isn't going to be any program," Duff declared. "I think the country is fed up with the McCarthy wrangle—at least my mail indicates it is."

"McCarthy has overshot his mark," Duff declared. He added that the army report on Cohn's activities seemed to him to be reasonable.

Flanders Calls Tax Cut Plan Phony, Expensive Method

Claims Raising Exemptions Would Mean Only 'Peanuts' to Low Wage Earners

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R.-Vt.) today characterized as "an expensive phony" a plan of Sen. George (D.-Ga.) to cut individual income taxes by sharply raising exemptions for each taxpayer and his dependents.

Flanders made the remark in an interview as Republicans in both the Senate and House sought to tighten their lines against the Democratic drive to raise the exemptions.

The Vermont senator, who serves on the tax-writing Finance Committee, said the George proposal would mean only "peanuts" to low-income taxpayers.

Gives Example

For instance, he said, the benefit would be only 80 cents a week to an individual in the low wage bracket with no dependents.

But George's plan would be expensive to the government, he said, costing 4½ billion dollars in revenue this year, and about eight billion in succeeding years.

The veteran southerner, who is senior Democrat on the Finance Committee, proposes to boost exemptions from the present $600 to $800 this year, and to $1,500 for 1955 and thereafter.

Meanwhile, it seemed clear that the administration's tax strategy on Capitol Hill would be to let 912 million dollars of excise tax cuts voted by the House Wednesday slide through the Senate without a serious fight, and to concentrate on beating the income tax exemption increases.

Will Hold Hearing

The Senate Finance Committee is to conduct hearings on the excise measure next week. It will hear Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's testimony in opposition to the cuts Wednesday.

However, key committee members said privately they knew of

Court Rules Race Probe Has Right To Demand Books

Decision Makes Certain Committees Have Subpoena Power in Cases

Albany, N. Y., March 13 (AP)—The Court of Appeals holds that the Moreland Act Commission that has been investigating harness racing has full power to require witnesses to produce books and records.

In a 6-1 decision yesterday, the state's highest tribunal rejected the appeal of five residents of the New York city area from whom the commission had demanded all bank books, cancelled checks, records of stock transactions and other information regarding Yonkers Raceway stock.

The decision is largely academic now, since the commission had completed its public hearings and the five appeared as witnesses. However, the court thus established that such investigating bodies had that power.

The five were Burton D. Chait, in whose name Raceway stock was listed; his parents, Sarah and Abraham Chait; Sidney Ellis, a garment manufacturer, and Edwin Alexander, counsel for the Chaits.

Issue Is on 'Dummy'

One of the points at issue was whether Burton Chait held the stock as a "dummy."

In New York, George Trosk, general counsel of the commission, commented:

"It's a very important decision with respect to powers of the Moreland Commission and government investigative agencies generally in their issuance of subpoenaes."

He expressed some doubt, however, whether the commission, which completed public hearings into harness racing this week, would pursue the Chait case further.

Trosk told an interviewer his present feeling was that there was nothing further to be ex-

Government to Act if Total Fails to Drop in March

Washington, March 13 (AP)—National unemployment, continuing its rise, reached 3,671,000 in February, by the latest government count.

It's anybody's guess whether the key March figure—published next month—will show the decline hoped for by President Eisenhower.

The President said some weeks ago that if the March jobless total fails to drop he wil consider government action, including possible tax relief, to buoy the economy.

The census reported yesterday that unemployment, as measured by a new sampling method, rose 584,000 in February.

Another sampling method, which Secretary of Commerce Sinclair weeks said the Census Bureau is abandoning, showed February unemployment up 1,026,000 to a total of 3,385,000.

Comparisons

The 3,671,000 new-sample jobless figure compares with 1,788,000 for February 1953, the lowest post-World War 2 total, and 4,684,000 for February 1950, the highest postwar count. February employment was put at 60,051,000—up 298,000 from the previous month.

There were substantial discrepancies between the two sets of figures—for instance, the new sample reported an 885,000 February increase in the civilian labor force while the old sample showed a 1,354,000 increase. The new sample indicated a 120,000 decline in non-farm employment but the old one registered a 47,000 increase.

Both methods involve checks at 25,000 households, but the new sampling is taken over a much wider area than the old.

Climbs Since October

Whatever the reason for the varying figures—and the Census Bureau said it couldn't give any right now—it appeared that unemployment had climbed anywhere from 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 in the four months since October, when 1,162,000 were reported as jobless.

The February jobless jump was sure to touch off new controversy about the condition of the nation's economy. The CIO, waiting with a statement when the census figures were announced, called the new total "a disgrace to America."

"It is essential," the CIO added, "that the government stop whistling in the dark about the economic problems facing every American, and get to work, now,

Pilots Take Aircraft In Safely

Sixth Fleet Gives Order for Investigation of Charge They Flew in Vital Area

Munich, Germany, March 13 (AP)—Two American navy carrier-based planes were attacked by a Communist MIG near the Czech-German border yesterday. Czechoslovakia charged immediately that they had flown over its vital uranium-producing center at Jachymov, 35 miles inside the Iron Curtain and fired the first shot.

The navy said one of the two American propeller-driven planes was damaged but both pilots managed to bring their aircraft safely down at Neubiberg airbases in the American zone of Germany near Munich.

A navy spokesman in London said an investigation into the shootings was ordered by the U. S. Sixth Fleet. He said first reports showed empty aviation ammunition cartridges were found on German soil after the attack. One American spokesman in Munich said, however, the planes had "inadvertently" crossed into Czech territory. Clouds covered much of the frontier area over which they were flying.

On Routine Flight

The navy said the two planes were on a routine training flight off the Essex-class carrier Randolph. The Randolph is attached to the Sixth Fleet, which is the backbone of the NATO naval defense system.

The planes had been flying over the American zone of Austria, just at its junction with the German state of Bavaria and Czechoslovakia.

The two navy pilots still were at the Neubiberg airbase this morning, but the commanding officer there said he was ordered to answer no questions concerning the incident. He refused to identify the pilots or permit newsmen to see them.

Same Frontier

The clash occurred over the same tense East-West frontier where MIG fighters attacked two American Air Force F84 Thunderjets March 10, 1953, shooting down one. Two days after the loss of the Thunderjet, Soviet fighters

20 West Nations Will Cast Votes On Warning Reds

Dulles Certain American Powers to Stand Pat on Keeping Out Communism

Caracas, Venezuela, March 13 (AP)—A warning to international Communists to keep their hands off the western hemisphere was set for a decisive vote today by the 20 American nations attending the tenth inter-American conference here.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, virtually assured of a major diplomatic victory in getting approval of an anti-Red resolution, planned to leave for Washington this afternoon.

A majority of the nations meeting here threw their support to the Dulles proposals for united action to prevent international Communists from gaining a foothold in the Americas.

Demand Amendments

Some, however, demanded amendments to the U. S. draft resolution which would spell out more specifically a guarantee that this would not permit intervention into the internal affairs of any one state.

Guatemala, accused by U. S. officials in Washington of being Communist dominated, has fought a bitter, lone battle against such a declaration by the conference. That country's representatives here deny their government is under Red influence and claim they are fighting for democracy.

Dulles led the fight for passage of his resolution calling on American states to take joint action whenever any one of their number falls under international Communist influence.

Mexico Leads Way

Mexico led the way in trying to get the proposed resolution amended to call for joint action only if a country were threatened by outside agents. Several coun-

Market Retreats After New 24-Year High Is Recorded

New York, March 13 (AP)—The stock market inched up to a new 24-year high this week and then retreated.

With only a gentle nudge, the market as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks broke through a new 1953-54 peak, highest level for the average since 1930.

There were no fireworks involved in the final maneuver. Professional traders took the whole thing in stride.

Many in Wall Street felt, however, that the general investing public might attach weighty significance to the new record and come rushing into the market.

New high marks, no matter how established, seem to have a fatal fascination for the public. Brokers were quick to caution their customers with the old Wall Street reminder—you don't buy the stock market, you buy stocks. And they were highly selective in their suggestions for purchases and sales of securities.

Let's consider the market through the yardstick of the Associated Press average of 60 stocks.

On Thursday it gained 30 cents and reached $116.40, passing the previous 1953-54 high by 10 cents and reaching the highest levels since June 4 of 1930 when it stood at $116.60.

How high is that in relation to the big boom in 1929? Well, at the zenith of the great excitement, the Associated Press average hit $157.70 on Sept. 3, 1929. Then it broke in the greatest crash in history of securities. The average dropped to $83.80 before it caught its breath. Those are the extremes for that year.

The market rebounded from its low and climbed ahead into 1930 in a general recovery movement. It reached as high as $125.50 before it fell again. It was a long climb back, and now 24 years later the market is at the June, 1930, level again.

Losses Wiped Out

The more recent history of the stock market shows that it hit a top a year ago last January and then staggered lower as the Korean war ended. That phase ended in mid-September when the market staged a sharp recovery drive right up to the present, in six months wiping out losses of

Arrested at Phone For Death Threat

New York, March 13 (AP)—A Puerto Rican Nationalist was arrested last night while telephoning the FBI about his plans to kill President Eisenhower.

Police identified him as Jose Rivera Colon, 30, an itinerant paint sprayer. He is to be arraigned today on charges of threatening the President.

While FBI men talked to Colon on the telephone, his call was traced and police rushed to the drugstore booth to pick him up before the call ended.

Police files showed Colon had once been committed to a mental institution. The FBI said he told them he would kill the President "in the next couple of months."

Nebraska Takes Brunt of Early Storm; Snow, Winds and Hail Buffet Five States

(By The Associated Press)

A snowstorm moved northeast out of Colorado and Kansas today, wetting down clouds of dust that had reduced visibility to zero in parts of five states. The blizzard dumped up to 10 inches of snow in its wake.

As the storm progressed, winds that had buffeted the Plains states with gusts up to 100 miles an hour diminished. But hail borne by a howling wind and accompanied by lightning lashed Grand Rapids, Mich.

Nebraska bore the brunt in the early stages as the storm substituted snow for dust in its drive across the midcontinent.

Snow to depths of 10 inches was reported at Chadron in western Nebraska. The Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. reported 1,630 long line circuits out in Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota. It said 3,600 farm phones were out of service in the three states.

In Kansas City, the weather bureau said the storm would move northeast through Iowa and Minnesota into Wisconsin and Michigan, and eastward out of Oklahoma and Texas. The weatherman said some rain was in prospect north of a line extending roughly eastward from St. Joseph, Mo., northeast of St. Louis to Cincinnati. He said falling temperatures were in prospect for the south as warm air gave way to cold.

High winds continued to buffet Missouri last night, fanning dozens of forest fires, some covering more than 500 acres each.

The State Conservation Commission said the worst danger was in southwestern Missouri, where more than 20 fires raged.

Dust blown in from the plains states hampered fire watchers in planes and towers.

In Kansas, whose wheat plains fed the dust storm, two died in a traffic mishap blamed on the storm. Scores of lesser accidents were reported.

The dust got so thick on the Oklahoma A. & M. basketball court at Stillwater that it had to be brushed off after every quarter in a regional tournament of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

And to the south, in Texas, the dust also continued to cause trouble.

Dry weather prevailed over most areas west of the Rockies. The only wet spots over the Atlantic coast states were in sections of Virginia and Maryland which reported light rain and drizzle. Showers hit the Gulf area, with fog in sections of the coast.

Temperatures early today ranged from the teens in the north and central plans to the 70s in the Gulf area. Some readings included Jackson, Mass., 71; Denver 15; Bismarck, N. D. 11; Pittsburgh, 40; New York 40; Nashville, 73; Miami, 74; Fort Worth, 61; Los Angeles, 51; Seattle, 33, and Chicago, 34.

Floor Sanding Warning

Be careful when using a power sander not to let the sander run while standing in one spot. This will produce an uneven surface.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I remember the Van Wagenen store on Wall street as a department and dry goods store, but cannot seem to remember the basement in which they sold hardware. Back in April of 1923 they were operated by The Ross Stores, Inc. They took a quarter of a page in The Freeman of above date to illustrate and price their various "guaranteed tools for mechanics and home carpenters." They had auto jacks for 69 cents, small bench vises for 50 cents, slim taper files for a dime, sink plungers for 25 cents. Also they had 2-foot brass jointed rules for a quarter, 26-inch hand saws for $1, forged nail hammers for 25 cents and many other items.

Although I never came to high school with my bicycle because of the steep Broadway hill I heard about the trials and tribulations of other students who had to leave their bicycles unprotected during school hours. I see in this same Freeman of April 3, 1923 that Superintendent of Schools Michael "called attention to the number of bicycles used by the boys and girls in high school. Some were left in the boys' and girls' corridors, and others were just left outside anywhere, exposed to the weather, with several being stolen from time to time." He had asked the school mechanic, Mr. Elmendorf, to make an estimate of cost of constructing a bicycle shed with roof but enclosed only with wire, and was told it would be about $2.50 per lineal foot for material with Mr. Elmendorf to perform the work. On a motion of Trustee Gill the matter was referred to the building committee with power. So I take it, it was built. Bicycles are expensive, easy to steal and difficult to identify, unless they have special markings or scratches. Some day someone will invent some idea by which they can either have numbers or other identifications. Many youngsters use bicycle locks, which always is worth the time it takes to lock and unlock it. It is too bad there isn't some sort of a key one could pull out when leaving a bicycle outside for a short time, and that way only the owner can make it run. There is nothing sadder than a boy whose bicycle has been stolen.

On page 6 of the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Tuesday, April 3, 1923, there is a list of the school teachers of Kingston and their salaries. At the time I see Principal John J. Finerty received $1,500, Principal Arthur H. Russell $2,000. Annie Thompson $1,300, Isabelle M. Hanley $1,150, Shirley Hazen $1,150 (of whom I wrote the other day, who is now talent scout for the Hazen-Wallis moving picture concern in Hollywood). Principal of Kingston High Charles W. Lewis received $3,100, Mary E. Noone $1,725, Ethel M. Hull $1,625, Ralph J. Cocks $1,700, Henry Dunbar $2,125, Kate Walton $1,675, all of the high school staff. Margaret M. Mulligan, the writing teacher, received $1,475, Harry Staples, the attendance officer, $800. The above is just part of the list of city teachers for the coming year of 1923 with item reading: "We recommend that contracts for the next school year be offered the following persons at the salary set opposite the name of each." That is over 30 years ago and much has changed in the local school system. Many of the names on the list are familiar to me. Although teachers seldom go into politics I think most of them are known by ever so many folks. I like meeting my former teachers and talking over old times.

Hide Dust Cloths

Hide dustcloths in the living room and other rooms for emergency use. Wash the dustcloth in soapy water occasionally so that it does not spread more dust than it picks up.

Choosing a Vase

A flower vase should blend or contrast pleasingly with the blooms. Delicate blossoms call for delicate vases and sturdy flowers, like marigolds or daisies, look best in heavy containers.

Watch the Stepladder

When you're painting, it's usually unwise to use a stepladder in a closed position, is if it were a straight ladder. Whenever possible, use it fully spread and locked open.

Picture Window in Bay

Shades Keep Out Cold

Drawn window shades are a form of insulation against cold and heat.

The 'ALDRON'

Expert Makes Check On Color Preferences

Checking up on color trends by seeking to discover what color paints America's homemakers were buying in the largest quantities, noted colorist Faber Birren made these discoveries. In one paint line that offered a selection of more than 100 attractive colors, the most popular 12 were tones of gray, green, pink, yellow and blue.

A company that has more than 1000 colors available reported that their 20 best sellers also included grays, greens, pinks and yellows—as well as one deep green and one brilliant red. Such high-style colors as charcoal, brown, copper, mustard, and olive green, lilac and purple did not make the "best seller" list.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

First Trick Was A Bridge Crime

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

A bridge crime was committed in today's hand. See if you can spot it.

West opened the seven of spades, East played the jack, and South won with the queen. Declarer led a heart, and West took the king of hearts.

West returned the king of spades, and South won with the ace. South led another heart, whereupon West took the ace of hearts and the rest of the spades to defeat the contract.

If a crime took place, it is obvious that declarer must have misplayed the hand. Where did he go wrong?

South went wrong at the very first trick. The correct play is to let East hold the first trick with the jack of spades.

Since the jack of spades happens to be a singleton, South has no further trouble. East shifts to a diamond, and declarer takes the ace of diamonds and knocks out a heart. South has ample time to establish the hearts and make his contract with at least one overtrick.

Of course, South couldn't be sure that East's jack of spades was a singleton. If East were able to lead another spade, South would simply duck and allow West to win the trick. If West then continued the suit, South would get two spade tricks, and the opponents would get two spades and eventually two hearts.

The spade suit was dangerous only if the enemy could develop three tricks in the suit, to add to the two heart tricks that they were sure to make sooner or later. South could protect himself against the loss of three spade tricks by allowing East to hold the first trick with the jack.

Compact 'Aldron' Is Roomy Inside

Rooms	Six
Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Five
Cubage:
House	22,600 ft.
Garage	3,500 ft.
Dimensions	53' x 33'

Presenting a delightfully compact exterior appearance, "The Aldron," featured today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, has a comfortably spacious and thoroughly modern interior.

Although the house proper measures but 38'x27', it contains five good sized rooms, including three bedrooms. Overall measurements of "The Aldron" are 53'x33'; these figures include the attached one-car garage. Cubage of the house is 22,600 feet; cubage of the garage is 3500 feet. To build the house plus the garage you'll need at least a 75-foot lot.

Largest of the rooms in the house is the 15'x14' living room. Featuring both a large picture window and a fireplace, both decorative and practical features much in demand with today's home builders, the livingroom is the connecting link with all of the othe rooms in "The Aldron."

So designed that it seems like a room by itself, the breakfast nook is actually a part of the living room. This area receives extra light through the window in the right wall. A door in the back wall leads directly to the kitchen to make it just as convenient as possible for you to serve meals in this breakfast area. As a matter of fact, you can use this section of the living room as a dining room and serve all your meals there if you prefer.

All three bedrooms in "The Aldron" receive plenty of light and ventilation; there is a good closet storage space in each of the rooms, also. The all modern bath, which is large enough to hold a tub and a shower, is conveniently near to all the bedrooms.

In addition to the bedroom closets "The Aldron" contains a linen closet, a general purpose closet, a spacious coat closet in the entry hall and a large broom closet in the kitchen. Thus, you'll have centrally located storage space for all household equipment as well as for your family's clothing.

Overhead in the garage there is ample storage space for screens, garden tools, etc. And, in the basement, too, you'll find welcome extra storage space.

Since there's no room in the house proper for the laundry, it will have to be installed in the basement of "The Aldron." It should, of course, be placed under the kitchen. Have the heating equipment installed under the living room.

Matching Woodwork

Matching woodwork to wall color is becoming increasingly popular.

Common Chimney Fault Is Cited

A chimney has two main functions—1, to create a draft to keep fuel burning at the proper rate, and, 2, to carry away smoke, fumes and unconsumed gases.

A common fault in chimney construction, according to the Plumbing and Housing Industries Bureau, is failure to co-ordinate flue area with height of chimney. A chimney may be high enough, yet have a flue area that is too small to carry the volume of gas fed into it.

In building a new house, it's wise to specify an all-purpose chimney suitable for any type of fuel. You may change your heating plant in time, but you don't want to be compelled to build a new chimney: One of the newest developments in chimneys is the prefabricated chimney which is adaptable for the combustion of any fuel.

Never connect fireplaces or incinerators with the same flue that serves the heating plant. Extra connections destroy draft efficiency.

Avoid long runs and unnecessary bends in smoke pipes.

New Flat Glass

A greenish tint glass which is said to absorb the sun's heat, reduce eyestrain and keep fading and bleaching of fabrics to a minimum is a new product offered by the flat glass industry. It will be used in automobiles, trains, buses, public buildings and homes.

Clearing a Drain

If a chemical drain cleaner is to be used to clear an obstruction from a fixture drain or trap, first remove as much as possible of the water from the trap so the chemical won't become so diluted it can't do the job.

Light Colors Tricky

Remember, when you're selecting paint colors for your surroundings that light colors reflect more light than dark ones, that they seem lighter in weight, make things seem larger, make things seem farther away and make you feel cheerful.

Keep Shingles Stained

Wooden shingles should be restained before there is any chance of their starting to deteriorate. Before staining, naturally, all leaks should be repaired and bad shingles replaced. You should dip new shingles in stain before they are applied.

Buying Drapery Fabrics

For convenience and economy, make sure that any drapery material you buy is sudsfast, sunfast, shrink-resistant, and heavy enough to hang gracefully.

Homemade Wood Filler

A fast drying wood filler can be made by mixing sawdust with enough lacquer to form a thick paste.

Preventing Bumps

A recessed medicine cabinet with sliding doors in the bathroom eliminates the danger that goes with doors opening into the room.

Keep a Record Of the Paint Job

Just after you stand back to admire your artistry in repainting a room, make a written record of the materials you have used. Convenient for the purpose is a 3 x 5 index card which can be thumbtacked inside a closet or behind books on a shelf. Make a note of the date, the type and brand of paint used on all surfaces, the quantity needed and the store where it was purchased. All this information will be helpful when you wish to touch-up a marred surface or repaint the room.

Also, before you put your remaining paint away, attach a label to each can, telling where the paint was used. If you wish samples of the paint to take on fabric-shopping expeditions, brush some of the paint onto index cards. They're convenient to carry with you.

Sturdy Play Tables

An old kitchen table with its legs cut down to a suitable height for children can make a sturdy play table. Asphalt tile can be cemented to the top to provide a durable finish easily cleaned. Or an old door can be mounted on four 2 by 4s, sanded smooth. The top surface can be covered with plywood or hardboard to provide a smooth surface.

Mending an Awning

The best way to repair a torn awning is to sew a patch of the same material in place. Patches can also be applied with the same kind of cement that is used for patching inner tubes of automobile tires.

Cows Generate Heat

Farm researchers report that cows throw off so much body heat that the resultant condensation deteriorates farm buildings. Twenty cows generate enough heat to warm a five-room house on a winter day, they say.

Drapery Tip

If your window is very high and you want to make it appear lower, tie draperies back a little below the sash line to help break a too-long look. You can buy ready-made tie-backs or make them yourself.

To Smooth Wood

To prepare woodwork for painting, sand rough spots and gouges, using 1/0 sandpaper on flat surfaces and No. 0 steel wool on curved surfaces. Then brush off dust.

Packaged Porches

A New York manufacturer is precutting and packaging for shipment house porches ranging in size from 150 to 400 square feet. He ships them complete with nails, hardware and plans.

Sharp Eyes Can Find Sound Older Homes

Tens of thousands of neglected old buildings are scattered throughout the country. Externally, they are hardly worth a second glance, but in many cases a shoddy exterior conceals a solid foundation and strong framework — an excellent core around which to build a new shell for considerably less than the cost of a completely new home.

In looking for an old house with remodeling possibilities, the trick, of course, is to be able to detect what lies under the surface. There's no magic way to do this. It takes a lot of inquisitive poking around among joists, sills, rafters and all the other hidden structural parts.

Water Heat Controlled

Many of the new automatic water heaters are equipped with a dial which the owner can adjust to any temperature desired. Settings range from 100 to 180 degrees.

Removing Oil Spots

If oil or wax is spilled on rugs or carpets it usually can be removed by placing a clean piece of blotting paper over the stain and then rubbing a warm iron over it.

Making Fire Last

Fireplace fires burn longer if some green wood is mixed in with the dry, seasoned logs.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I remember the Van Wagenen store on Wall street as a department and dry goods store, but cannot seem to remember the basement in which they sold hardware. Back in April of 1923 they were operated by The Ross Stores, Inc. They took a quarter of a page in The Freeman of above date to illustrate and price their various "guaranteed tools for mechanics and home carpenters." They had auto jacks for 69 cents, small bench vises for 50 cents, slim taper files for a dime, sink plungers for 25 cents. Also they had 2-foot brass jointed rules for a quarter, 26-inch hand saws for $1, forged nail hammers for 25 cents and many other items.

Although I never came to high school with my bicycle because of the steep Broadway hill I heard about the trials and tribulations of other students who had to leave their bicycles unprotected during school hours. I see in this same Freeman of April 3, 1923 that Superintendent of Schools Michael "called attention to the number of bicycles used by the boys and girls in high school. Some were left in the boys' and girls' corridors, and others were just left outside anywhere, exposed to the weather, with several being stolen from time to time." He had asked the school mechanic, Mr. Elmendorf, to make an estimate of cost of constructing a bicycle shed with roof but enclosed only with wire, and was told it would be about $2.50 per lineal foot for material with Mr. Elmendorf to perform the work. On a motion of Trustee Gill the matter was referred to the building committee with power. So I take it, it was built. Bicycles are expensive, easy to steal and difficult to identify, unless they have special markings or scratches. Some day someone will invent some idea by which they can either have numbers or other identifications. Many youngsters use bicycle locks, which always is worth the time it takes to lock and unlock it. It is too bad there isn't some sort of a key one could pull out when leaving a bicycle outside for a short time, and that way only the owner can make it run. There is nothing sadder than a boy whose bicycle has been stolen.

On page 6 of the Kingston Freeman and Journal of Tuesday, April 3, 1923, there is a list of the school teachers of Kingston and their salaries. At the time I see Principal John J. Finerty received $1,500, Principal Arthur H. Russell $2,000. Annie Thompson $1,300, Isabelle M. Hanley $1,150, Shirley Hazen $1,150 (of whom I wrote the other day, who is now talent scout for the Hazen-Wallis moving picture concern in Hollywood). Principal of Kingston High Charles W. Lewis received $3,100, Mary E. Noone $1,725, Ethel M. Hull $1,625, Ralph J. Cocks $1,700, Henry Dunbar $2,125, Kate Walton $1,675, all of the high school staff. Margaret M. Mulligan, the writing teacher, received $1,475, Harry Staples, the attendance officer, $800. The above is just part of the list of city teachers for the coming year of 1923 with item reading: "We recommend that contracts for the next school year be offered the following persons at the salary set opposite the name of each." That is over 30 years ago and much has changed in the local school system. Many of the names on the list are familiar to me. Although teachers seldom go into politics I think most of them are known by ever so many folks. I like meeting my former teachers and talking over old times.

Hide Dust Cloths

Hide dustcloths in the living room and other rooms for emergency use. Wash the dustcloth in soapy water occasionally so that it does not spread more dust than it picks up.

Choosing a Vase

A flower vase should blend or contrast pleasingly with the blooms. Delicate blossoms call for delicate vases and sturdy flowers, like marigolds or daisies, look best in heavy containers.

Watch the Stepladder

When you're painting, it's usually unwise to use a stepladder in a closed position, is if it were a straight ladder. Whenever possible, use it fully spread and locked open.

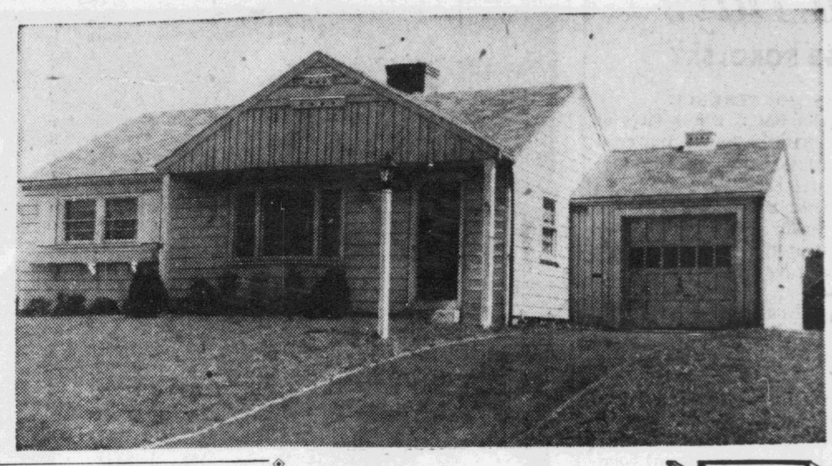

Picture Window in Bay

Shades Keep Out Cold

Drawn window shades are a form of insulation against cold and heat.

The 'ALDRON'

Expert Makes Check On Color Preferences

Checking up on color trends by seeking to discover what color paints America's homemakers were buying in the largest quantities, noted colorist Faber Birren made these discoveries. In one paint line that offered a selection of more than 100 attractive colors, the most popular 12 were tones of gray, green, pink, yellow and blue.

A company that has more than 1000 colors available reported that their 20 best sellers also included grays, greens, pinks and yellows—as well as one deep green and one brilliant red. Such high-style colors as charcoal, brown, copper, mustard, and olive green, lilac and purple did not make the "best seller" list.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

First Trick Was A Bridge Crime

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

A bridge crime was committed in today's hand. See if you can spot it.

West opened the seven of spades, East played the jack, and South won with the queen. Declarer led a heart, and West took the king of hearts.

West returned the king of spades, and South won with the ace. South led another heart, whereupon West took the ace of hearts and the rest of the spades to defeat the contract.

If a crime took place, it is obvious that declarer must have misplayed the hand. Where did he go wrong?

South went wrong at the very first trick. The correct play is to let East hold the first trick with the jack of spades.

Since the jack of spades happens to be a singleton, South has no further trouble. East shifts to a diamond, and declarer takes the ace of diamonds and knocks out a heart. South has ample time to establish the hearts and make his contract with at least one overtrick.

Of course, South couldn't be sure that East's jack of spades was a singleton. If East were able to lead another spade, South would simply duck and allow West to win the trick. If West then continued the suit, South would get two spade tricks, and the opponents would get two spades and eventually two hearts.

The spade suit was dangerous only if the enemy could develop three tricks in the suit, to add to the two heart tricks that they were sure to make sooner or later. South could protect himself against the loss of three spade tricks by allowing East to hold the first trick with the jack.

Compact 'Aldron' Is Roomy Inside

Rooms	Six
Bedrooms	Three
Closets	Five
Cubage:
House	22,600 ft.
Garage	3,500 ft.
Dimensions	53' x 33'

Presenting a delightfully compact exterior appearance, "The Aldron," featured today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, has a comfortably spacious and thoroughly modern interior.

Although the house proper measures but 38'x27', it contains five good sized rooms, including three bedrooms. Overall measurements of "The Aldron" are 53'x33'; these figures include the attached one-car garage. Cubage of the house is 22,600 feet; cubage of the garage is 3500 feet. To build the house plus the garage you'll need at least a 75-foot lot.

Largest of the rooms in the house is the 15'x14' living room. Featuring both a large picture window and a fireplace, both decorative and practical features much in demand with today's home builders, the livingroom is the connecting link with all of the othe rooms in "The Aldron."

So designed that it seems like a room by itself, the breakfast nook is actually a part of the living room. This area receives extra light through the window in the right wall. A door in the back wall leads directly to the kitchen to make it just as convenient as possible for you to serve meals in this breakfast area. As a matter of fact, you can use this section of the living room as a dining room and serve all your meals there if you prefer.

All three bedrooms in "The Aldron" receive plenty of light and ventilation; there is a good closet storage space in each of the rooms, also. The all modern bath, which is large enough to hold a tub and a shower, is conveniently near to all the bedrooms.

In addition to the bedroom closets "The Aldron" contains a linen closet, a general purpose closet, a spacious coat closet in the entry hall and a large broom closet in the kitchen. Thus, you'll have centrally located storage space for all household equipment as well as for your family's clothing.

Overhead in the garage there is ample storage space for screens, garden tools, etc. And, in the basement, too, you'll find welcome extra storage space.

Since there's no room in the house proper for the laundry, it will have to be installed in the basement of "The Aldron." It should, of course, be placed under the kitchen. Have the heating equipment installed under the living room.

Matching Woodwork

Matching woodwork to wall color is becoming increasingly popular.

Common Chimney Fault Is Cited

A chimney has two main functions—1, to create a draft to keep fuel burning at the proper rate, and, 2, to carry away smoke, fumes and unconsumed gases.

A common fault in chimney construction, according to the Plumbing and Housing Industries Bureau, is failure to co-ordinate flue area with height of chimney. A chimney may be high enough, yet have a flue area that is too small to carry the volume of gas fed into it.

In building a new house, it's wise to specify an all-purpose chimney suitable for any type of fuel. You may change your heating plant in time, but you don't want to be compelled to build a new chimney: One of the newest developments in chimneys is the prefabricated chimney which is adaptable for the combustion of any fuel.

Never connect fireplaces or incinerators with the same flue that serves the heating plant. Extra connections destroy draft efficiency.

Avoid long runs and unnecessary bends in smoke pipes.

New Flat Glass

A greenish tint glass which is said to absorb the sun's heat, reduce eyestrain and keep fading and bleaching of fabrics to a minimum is a new product offered by the flat glass industry. It will be used in automobiles, trains, buses, public buildings and homes.

Clearing a Drain

If a chemical drain cleaner is to be used to clear an obstruction from a fixture drain or trap, first remove as much as possible of the water from the trap so the chemical won't become so diluted it can't do the job.

Light Colors Tricky

Remember, when you're selecting paint colors for your surroundings that light colors reflect more light than dark ones, that they seem lighter in weight, make things seem larger, make things seem farther away and make you feel cheerful.

Keep Shingles Stained

Wooden shingles should be restained before there is any chance of their starting to deteriorate. Before staining, naturally, all leaks should be repaired and bad shingles replaced. You should dip new shingles in stain before they are applied.

Buying Drapery Fabrics

For convenience and economy, make sure that any drapery material you buy is sudsfast, sunfast, shrink-resistant, and heavy enough to hang gracefully.

Homemade Wood Filler

A fast drying wood filler can be made by mixing sawdust with enough lacquer to form a thick paste.

Preventing Bumps

A recessed medicine cabinet with sliding doors in the bathroom eliminates the danger that goes with doors opening into the room.

Keep a Record Of the Paint Job

Just after you stand back to admire your artistry in repainting a room, make a written record of the materials you have used. Convenient for the purpose is a 3 x 5 index card which can be thumbtacked inside a closet or behind books on a shelf. Make a note of the date, the type and brand of paint used on all surfaces, the quantity needed and the store where it was purchased. All this information will be helpful when you wish to touch-up a marred surface or repaint the room.

Also, before you put your remaining paint away, attach a label to each can, telling where the paint was used. If you wish samples of the paint to take on fabric-shopping expeditions, brush some of the paint onto index cards. They're convenient to carry with you.

Sturdy Play Tables

An old kitchen table with its legs cut down to a suitable height for children can make a sturdy play table. Asphalt tile can be cemented to the top to provide a durable finish easily cleaned. Or an old door can be mounted on four 2 by 4s, sanded smooth. The top surface can be covered with plywood or hardboard to provide a smooth surface.

Mending an Awning

The best way to repair a torn awning is to sew a patch of the same material in place. Patches can also be applied with the same kind of cement that is used for patching inner tubes of automobile tires.

Cows Generate Heat

Farm researchers report that cows throw off so much body heat that the resultant condensation deteriorates farm buildings. Twenty cows generate enough heat to warm a five-room house on a winter day, they say.

Drapery Tip

If your window is very high and you want to make it appear lower, tie draperies back a little below the sash line to help break a too-long look. You can buy ready-made tie-backs or make them yourself.

To Smooth Wood

To prepare woodwork for painting, sand rough spots and gouges, using 1/0 sandpaper on flat surfaces and No. 0 steel wool on curved surfaces. Then brush off dust.

Packaged Porches

A New York manufacturer is precutting and packaging for shipment house porches ranging in size from 150 to 400 square feet. He ships them complete with nails, hardware and plans.

Sharp Eyes Can Find Sound Older Homes

Tens of thousands of neglected old buildings are scattered throughout the country. Externally, they are hardly worth a second glance, but in many cases a shoddy exterior conceals a solid foundation and strong framework — an excellent core around which to build a new shell for considerably less than the cost of a completely new home.

In looking for an old house with remodeling possibilities, the trick, of course, is to be able to detect what lies under the surface. There's no magic way to do this. It takes a lot of inquisitive poking around among joists, sills, rafters and all the other hidden structural parts.

Water Heat Controlled

Many of the new automatic water heaters are equipped with a dial which the owner can adjust to any temperature desired. Settings range from 100 to 180 degrees.

Removing Oil Spots

If oil or wax is spilled on rugs or carpets it usually can be removed by placing a clean piece of blotting paper over the stain and then rubbing a warm iron over it.

Making Fire Last

MOLOTOV DISREGARDS HISTORY

Russian Foreign Minister Molotov recently likened the North Atlantic Treaty to the pre-war anti-Comintern pact of the Axis powers. He said he has no doubt the fate of NATO will be no better than that of the earlier pact between Germany, Italy and Japan.

This is a typical piece of Communist camouflage laid across past history, which Molotov foolishly imagines no one can remember.

To begin with, the Axis treaty was for all practical purposes an offensive pact. The three Axis countries were bent on aggression. They had their sights set, too, on more than just Communist Russia. Among them they expected ultimately to subdue Asia, Africa and the European democracies.

Molotov wrongly implies that it was directed solely at the Soviet Union. He also implies incorrectly that Russia alone smashed this effort. The blunt truth is that without Allied aid, particularly materiel from the United States, Russia very likely would have lost the war to Germany.

In the fall of 1942, the Russians were perilously close to defeat. At that moment the "anti-Comintern" pact must have looked reasonably impressive to Moscow.

The NATO pact is something else. It is purely defensive in character. It came into being slowly, painfully, only after all efforts at reasonable settlement of postwar issues with Russia had collapsed. Given a cooperative Kremlin, there would have been no need for NATO.

As for Molotov's jaunty assurance that NATO's fate will be no better than the Axis pact suffered, he is here indulging in wishful thinking. No one wants war. If anybody starts it, Russia will.

But Russia another time would not have the benefit of American and other Allied materiel. She would have the combined weight of the free world—not inconsiderable today—thrown against her.

To be sure, Russia has increased output substantially since World War II, and has drawn Iron Curtain countries into her fold. But as things now stand, and are likely to be at least for the next two decades, the Soviet Union has no grounds for such optimism as Molotov so glibly expressed.

Always assuming, of course, that Western Europe, including Western Germany, stays in the Allied orbit.

The foreign minister's excess bravado disturbs no one who can recall what really happened in the great war.

Many a young miss concerned about watching her figure gives much more thought to whether others do.

To be first with safety first is the best way never to take second place.

It's nice to do something for others. But the person who is always butting in, instead of diplomatically lending a hand, is hindering, not helping.

DOUBLED ENROLLMENT

At the National Conference on Higher Education in Chicago it was predicted that by 1970 enrollment in our colleges may double. This increase may be a very good thing for the colleges in some ways but it can create serious problems.

The prediction is based on the rising birth rate and the fact that more people than ever want college education. Doubled enrollment will mean doubling the faculties, increasing the number of classrooms and dormitories, improving library and research facilities. This will take money. Such problems are not insoluble, however, and if the colleges start now to prepare for the predicted growth it can be faced without too much disturbance to the calm academic life of our institutions of learning.

There is something very optimistic about the fact that college enrollment may double its present figure by 1970. Not every one who wants to go to college, it is said, is equipped to go or would profit by going. There may be truth in that argument. But the fact that so many people are indicating a desire for higher education is encouraging. Respect for learning is a healthy thing in a democracy.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE CARACAS CONFERENCE

The problem that John Foster Dulles faces at Caracas, Venezuela, is that the Soviet Universal State has successfully penetrated an area in Latin America; has established a base for operations in Guatemala; has disaffected both Hondurases and Costa Rica; is moving rapidly into Cuba and Mexico. British Honduras is at this moment in particular danger of becoming part of the Guatemalan Communist base.

This moves the danger from the realm of theory into that of reality. The Panama Canal is imperilled, as anybody can see who reads a map. But equally important, the United States can be isolated from its Latin American neighbors and can be diverted from its world policies to a defensive program on the American continents. While our statesmen excite themselves over small politics at home, we are being invaded, in the sense that areas that have been important to this country's national existence since Thomas Jefferson was President are being absorbed by our national enemy.

This is the problem and it will not be solved by the current trend toward happy talk which means nothing when historic events rush at terrific speed against us. The realities are grim because involved is our national existence.

While some of our so-called statesmen continue to view without alarm, in their relaxing material comforts, the penetration into our own government, they cannot ignore the base established in Guatemala by the Kremlin, or the pressures upon other countries, particularly Costa Rica, Cuba and Mexico. Dulles is facing up to the situation realistically and fearlessly but he may be late.

The "Good Neighbor Policy" of the Roosevelt Administration, devised by Stanley High and carried forward by Nelson Rockefeller, proved to be a failure, not so much because the program was wrong but because of the "Europe First Policy," which diverted attention from both China and Latin America. Russia took advantage of the diversion to conquer China and to penetrate Latin America. When one reviews all the facts, it stands clear that even when the United States was an ally of Soviet Russia, the latter was making salient moves against this country.

The harm done in Latin America can be undone but not by a casual policy or by failure to act effectively. One of the first necessities is a full understanding with the Argentine, with the very Peron whom our Left Wing geniuses painted as a bad dictator while they were supporting Stalin as a good dictator. Peron can add to our strength; without him our difficulties will be multiplied many times.

President Eisenhower apparently recognized the peril early and sent his brother, Milton, to Latin America where he made an excellent impression and gained important information as to what ought to be done. What influence Milton Eisenhower's report had upon State Department thinking, I do not know, but it would seem, from events, to have been significant. By sending Milton Eisenhower to Latin America and the Vice President, Richard Nixon, to Asia, the President got an objective view of our two most perilous situations. In doing it that way, the President was wiser than most of us thought at the time.

The Caracas Conference, it is hoped, will achieve a direct anti-Soviet attitude in Latin America. Anything less will be a defeat for the United States and therefore a victory for Soviet Russia. A compromise will mean nothing. The rest of the world will watch Caracas for a sign of American strength on the home continents.

As it is expected that there is to be no success at Geneva in April, it is as essential for American prestige as for realities of our historic role that Caracas should not be a failure. The Geneva Conference is already hopeless. France and Canada are already openly indicating a desire to recognize Red China as a realistic approach to that problem. For the United States, such recognition is not realistic at all. It means a total defeat in the Korean War; it means the conquest of Southeast Asia by the Soviet Universal State and the exclusion of the United States from that continent. It means that again, as after our military defeat in Korea, each nation will have to reassess its position vis-a-vis the United States and Russia. It will increase neutralism.

Should Caracas be successful, it could have some effect on Geneva.

HOW MUCH SLEEP IS NEEDED?

I have written before of a neighbor awakening me very early one morning, inviting me to go fishing with him. As I had other plans for the day I had to refuse his invitation but asked him why his usual fishing companion was not with him. He informed me that his usual fishing companion was never awake any more when he called in the morning, in fact slept until noon and also slept a part of the afternoon. Finally his friends reported this strong desire to sleep to his physician, who, looking for the commonest cause first, sent him to his dentist for an X-ray of his teeth. Nearly all his teeth were so badly infected that his dentist removed all of his teeth and put in an upper and lower denture — a complete set. There was so much infection in his system that it was several months before he lost that sleepy feeling and was able and desirous of going fishing again.

The question sometimes arises as to just how much sleep an adult needs but we can readily understand that where infection is present — teeth, tonsils, gums, gallbladder — much more sleep is usually required.

In a recent article by a research physician and a dentist, they reported that when the adult was in good health, not constipated, and free of infection, all the sleep he needs to keep him well, willing and anxious to get up in the morning, is about seven hours.

While the usual advice is to take eight hours sleep at night, it would seem that many healthy adults do require the eight hours.

What may be a factor in the need of sleep is that many of these healthy adults have acquired the habit of sleeping eight hours at night and believe they feel tired during the day if they do not obtain it. Another factor entering into the need of sleep is the amount of rest, of sitting or lying down, during the day.

One outstanding example of being able to keep well and bright mentally on just four hours sleep is the great inventor Thomas Edison. However, these four hours were entirely without interruption as he was hard of hearing. Also it is told that at times, though keenly interested in his inventive work, he would lie down on a couch for a long or short period several times a day.

The thought then is that while our research workers have found that seven hours sleep is enough fror the average healthy adult, habit and infection are factor in some cases.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Two months of the second session of the 83rd Congress have now been frittered away on political sideshows. These have furnished a lot of oratory, name-calling and frivolous newspaper copy, but that's about all.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy et al., running a public inquisition against the Army, produced a disheartening spectacle.

But he proceeded to top it by his proposal, with Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, that the Army should inaugurate a system of "labor camps" for Army fifth amendment offenders. The mere prospect of trying to match the Communist concentration camps in free America is positively frightening in its implications.

The amount of wordage wasted in the futile effort to pass Ohio Sen. John W. Bricker's Constitutional amendment in five weeks of debate will make it all the more difficult for the Republicans to write a commendable legislative record in 1954.

This Bricker controversy was exceeded by the violence of the Lincoln's birthday week oratory. Republican charges of treason by the Democrats were matched by denials and demands for a breakdown on the number of Communists thrown out of government by the GOP.

Of 2429 "security-risk" separations, 422 turned out to have something in their files of a "subversive nature." And once it was announced, all the excitement over this inflated issue immediately subsided.

So, in solid accomplishment, what do the two months add up to?

Ike's Program Bogs Down

Absolutely nothing has been completed on President Eisenhower's bold new middle-of-the-road program which is supposed to save the country, and return and enlarge Republican control of the 84th Congress.

Only 12 bills have been signed into law by the President in these first two months of 1954. Only two of these bills, in the nature of emergency farm legislation, can be considered important. The other ten measures are completely routine tricky-track. Elections simply aren't won on performances like that.

Oh, yes. There is one other measure passed by Congress and awaiting action by the President. It would raise pensions for members of Congress and their employees.

Major legislative proposals are strewn all over the place. Raising the national debt limit from $275 billion to $290 billion, statehood for Alaska and authorization for an Air Force Academy have passed the House and are pending business before the Senate.

Granting immunity to Congressional witness-informers and authorization for U. S. participation in the St. Lawrence seaway have passed the Senate and are pending in the House.

Stuck in committees of one chamber or the other are such important measures as Taft-Hartley law revision, social security expansion, granting the vote to 18-year-olds, forfeiture of citizenship by Communist conspirators against the U. S. increase in postal rates, easier terms for home building and slum redevelopment loans.

The House Ways and Means committee is just completing a tremendous job of revising the U. S. tax code. The resulting bill, said to be almost 900 pages long, is almost ready for unveiling.

Results Are Unforseeable

But nobody seems to know just what this bill will do in the way of cutting taxes and decreasing government revenues needed to balance the budget. The result may be good and may be terrible.

What all this haphazard lawmaking seems to prove, if anything, is that the Congress needs a general manager or an efficiency expert of some kind to streamline its SOP — its standard operating procedure—as the armed services call it.

The age of the legislating by instinct, usually felt in the form of a kick in the pants from a campaign contributor or other interested constituent, should be over.

If the task of the Congress is to be systematized and the workload more evenly distributed over the legislative half-year, another Congressional Reorganization act would seem to be in order. The last one was passed in 1946.

Republican Majority Leader William F. Knowland had made a start in the Senate by proposing committee procedure and seniority reform. Certainly the Senate Judiciary committee's performance over the confirmation of Earl Warren as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court added nothing to Congressional prestige.

The way things are shaping up now, after all the committees have gone through their investigatorial orgies, there will be a pileup of business in the last frantic weeks of the session. There will be a mad rush to get home by Fourth of July. That way, the Congressmen will have plenty of time to play politics. It's the one thing they seem to know how to do best now.

Q—What is the origin of the word "hustings" as a political term?

A—Hustings was the name of an ancient court held in London. It was the platform from which candidates for Parliament were formerly nominated, also the proceedings at an election. From this it has come to be applied to any electioneering platform.

A-Weapons Ready

Washington, March 13 (AP)—The nation's top military leader says U. S. armed forces stand ready to throw atomic weapons at any enemy whenever highest civilian government authorities give the word. Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a news conference yesterday the United States would use atomic weapons in a future war "if it is to our advantage to do so." The armed forces, he added, must be ready to "do what we are told to do" by civilian superiors.

New York—(NEA)—Of all improbable sources, you'd think anthropology professors would be least likely to have ideas for radio and TV networks.

But Prof. George Fathauer, of Miami University, Oxford, O., has dug up a good constructive, non-anthropological thought. He suggests that networks inform colleges about certain programs ahead of time, so the profs can alert their students.

"Maybe the audience for 'good' programs could be increased," Fathauer says, "with a little promotion through the colleges."

He cites, particularly, the fine CBS Radio Feature Project, which discusses such odds and ends as the atom, teen-agers, paroles, gambling, Negroes and baseball. Many of these, he says, would fit into his sociology curriculum—if he knew about them beforehand.

And many comedians would, naturally, be required listening in the ancient history course.

Harry Evans is a man who could tell the men about town how to get there. His job, as editorial director of Family Circle magazine, really doesn't introduce him. But when you list his accomplishments—dancer, song writer, golfer, editor, talent scout, writer, humorist, raconteur, etc.—you get the idea. He's also a friend of everybody who is anybody, plus a few nobodies.

Evans was a St. Augustine, Fla., boy who hit New York in '28 and worked on the old Life magazine in the era of Bob Benchley. He's still a youthful, light-hearted soul, although he shares with many the feeling that the creative spirit along Broadway isn't quite as creative as it once was.

"There's a dilution of talent nowadays," he says. "You could call it bootleg talent. People try to do too much. It's impossible to write something good every week. It takes hard work and lots of rewriting to be good."

In the theatre, for instance—and this is one of Evans' big loves—he says some plays that make money today would have closed quickly in the '30s.

"Plays like 'Sabrina Fair'" he says, mentioning a show that's still doing business, "would have been definitely second-rate in those days."

Actually, even today "Sabrina Fair" isn't considered terriffic—in fact, many people call it "Sabrina Just Fair."

Old-movies-on-TV-jokes are getting as old as old movies on TV. But this one is worth telling. Roger Price, ABC's weatherman and the inventor of "Droodles," says he saw one movie on TV that was so old Buffalo Bill was played by Buffalo Bill.

Why are pop songs so often so juvenile? There's a logical answer. It's not because songwriters are fugitives from the fifth grade. It's simply because most records are bought by juveniles.

Actually, the figures are startling—Jack Pleis of Decca says 70 per cent of all pop records are sold to kids between 10 and 18. And you have to turn out songs that please this majority—even if the majority is in its minority.

Secret Papers Are Reported Missing At U. S. Atom Plant

Washington, March 13 (AP) — Substantial quantities of secret documents, related possibly to hydrogen bomb production, reportedly are missing from the government's huge atomic plant at Hanford, Wash.

Rep. Pelly (R.-Wash.) told newsmen yesterday the Atomic Energy Commission has confirmed informally that certain papers have vanished. Pelly, who said he first heard reports of this late last year, added that AEC did not tell him the nature of the missing classified material, but that he took it for granted it was "top secret."

Pelly said he had no indication the data was stolen by spies, but he asked for an investigation by the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee because, he said, "even if it's a matter of poor housekeeping it's a shocking situation."

The congressman reported Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R.-N.Y.) of the atomic committee has agreed to look into the situation and that an investigator probably will be sent to Hanford shortly. Cole could not be reached for comment.

Silent for Present

An AEC spokesman said the commission would have nothing to say for the time being. At Hanford itself, there was no immediate comment.

The project's main mission is production of plutonium — a fissionable material — for atomic bombs.

However, Dr. Ralph Lapp, a scientist who worked on the World War 2 Manhattan project, said in a recent book that material used in the first big hydrogen blast in November, 1952 was made at Hanford. Dr. Lapp identified this material as tritium, a heavy form of hydrogen.

MOLOTOV DISREGARDS HISTORY

Russian Foreign Minister Molotov recently likened the North Atlantic Treaty to the pre-war anti-Comintern pact of the Axis powers. He said he has no doubt the fate of NATO will be no better than that of the earlier pact between Germany, Italy and Japan.

This is a typical piece of Communist camouflage laid across past history, which Molotov foolishly imagines no one can remember.

To begin with, the Axis treaty was for all practical purposes an offensive pact. The three Axis countries were bent on aggression. They had their sights set, too, on more than just Communist Russia. Among them they expected ultimately to subdue Asia, Africa and the European democracies.

Molotov wrongly implies that it was directed solely at the Soviet Union. He also implies incorrectly that Russia alone smashed this effort. The blunt truth is that without Allied aid, particularly materiel from the United States, Russia very likely would have lost the war to Germany.

In the fall of 1942, the Russians were perilously close to defeat. At that moment the "anti-Comintern" pact must have looked reasonably impressive to Moscow.

The NATO pact is something else. It is purely defensive in character. It came into being slowly, painfully, only after all efforts at reasonable settlement of postwar issues with Russia had collapsed. Given a cooperative Kremlin, there would have been no need for NATO.

As for Molotov's jaunty assurance that NATO's fate will be no better than the Axis pact suffered, he is here indulging in wishful thinking. No one wants war. If anybody starts it, Russia will.

But Russia another time would not have the benefit of American and other Allied materiel. She would have the combined weight of the free world—not inconsiderable today—thrown against her.

To be sure, Russia has increased output substantially since World War II, and has drawn Iron Curtain countries into her fold. But as things now stand, and are likely to be at least for the next two decades, the Soviet Union has no grounds for such optimism as Molotov so glibly expressed.

Always assuming, of course, that Western Europe, including Western Germany, stays in the Allied orbit.

The foreign minister's excess bravado disturbs no one who can recall what really happened in the great war.

Many a young miss concerned about watching her figure gives much more thought to whether others do.

To be first with safety first is the best way never to take second place.

It's nice to do something for others. But the person who is always butting in, instead of diplomatically lending a hand, is hindering, not helping.

DOUBLED ENROLLMENT

At the National Conference on Higher Education in Chicago it was predicted that by 1970 enrollment in our colleges may double. This increase may be a very good thing for the colleges in some ways but it can create serious problems.

The prediction is based on the rising birth rate and the fact that more people than ever want college education. Doubled enrollment will mean doubling the faculties, increasing the number of classrooms and dormitories, improving library and research facilities. This will take money. Such problems are not insoluble, however, and if the colleges start now to prepare for the predicted growth it can be faced without too much disturbance to the calm academic life of our institutions of learning.

There is something very optimistic about the fact that college enrollment may double its present figure by 1970. Not every one who wants to go to college, it is said, is equipped to go or would profit by going. There may be truth in that argument. But the fact that so many people are indicating a desire for higher education is encouraging. Respect for learning is a healthy thing in a democracy.

'These Days'

THE CARACAS CONFERENCE

The problem that John Foster Dulles faces at Caracas, Venezuela, is that the Soviet Universal State has successfully penetrated an area in Latin America; has established a base for operations in Guatemala; has disaffected both Hondurases and Costa Rica; is moving rapidly into Cuba and Mexico. British Honduras is at this moment in particular danger of becoming part of the Guatemalan Communist base.

This moves the danger from the realm of theory into that of reality. The Panama Canal is imperilled, as anybody can see who reads a map. But equally important, the United States can be isolated from its Latin American neighbors and can be diverted from its world policies to a defensive program on the American continents. While our statesmen excite themselves over small politics at home, we are being invaded, in the sense that areas that have been important to this country's national existence since Thomas Jefferson was President are being absorbed by our national enemy.

This is the problem and it will not be solved by the current trend toward happy talk which means nothing when historic events rush at terrific speed against us. The realities are grim because involved is our national existence.

While some of our so-called statesmen continue to view without alarm, in their relaxing material comforts, the penetration into our own government, they cannot ignore the base established in Guatemala by the Kremlin, or the pressures upon other countries, particularly Costa Rica, Cuba and Mexico. Dulles is facing up to the situation realistically and fearlessly but he may be late.

The "Good Neighbor Policy" of the Roosevelt Administration, devised by Stanley High and carried forward by Nelson Rockefeller, proved to be a failure, not so much because the program was wrong but because of the "Europe First Policy," which diverted attention from both China and Latin America. Russia took advantage of the diversion to conquer China and to penetrate Latin America. When one reviews all the facts, it stands clear that even when the United States was an ally of Soviet Russia, the latter was making salient moves against this country.

The harm done in Latin America can be undone but not by a casual policy or by failure to act effectively. One of the first necessities is a full understanding with the Argentine, with the very Peron whom our Left Wing geniuses painted as a bad dictator while they were supporting Stalin as a good dictator. Peron can add to our strength; without him our difficulties will be multiplied many times.

President Eisenhower apparently recognized the peril early and sent his brother, Milton, to Latin America where he made an excellent impression and gained important information as to what ought to be done. What influence Milton Eisenhower's report had upon State Department thinking, I do not know, but it would seem, from events, to have been significant. By sending Milton Eisenhower to Latin America and the Vice President, Richard Nixon, to Asia, the President got an objective view of our two most perilous situations. In doing it that way, the President was wiser than most of us thought at the time.

The Caracas Conference, it is hoped, will achieve a direct anti-Soviet attitude in Latin America. Anything less will be a defeat for the United States and therefore a victory for Soviet Russia. A compromise will mean nothing. The rest of the world will watch Caracas for a sign of American strength on the home continents.

As it is expected that there is to be no success at Geneva in April, it is as essential for American prestige as for realities of our historic role that Caracas should not be a failure. The Geneva Conference is already hopeless. France and Canada are already openly indicating a desire to recognize Red China as a realistic approach to that problem. For the United States, such recognition is not realistic at all. It means a total defeat in the Korean War; it means the conquest of Southeast Asia by the Soviet Universal State and the exclusion of the United States from that continent. It means that again, as after our military defeat in Korea, each nation will have to reassess its position vis-a-vis the United States and Russia. It will increase neutralism.

Should Caracas be successful, it could have some effect on Geneva.

T.V.—STAGE—RADIO—RECORDS—PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

New York—(NEA)—Of all improbable sources, you'd think anthropology professors would be least likely to have ideas for radio and TV networks.

But Prof. George Fathauer, of Miami University, Oxford, O., has dug up a good constructive, non-anthropological thought. He suggests that networks inform colleges about certain programs ahead of time, so the profs can alert their students.

"Maybe the audience for 'good' programs could be increased," Fathauer says, "with a little promotion through the colleges."

He cites, particularly, the fine CBS Radio Feature Project, which discusses such odds and ends as the atom, teen-agers, paroles, gambling, Negroes and baseball. Many of these, he says, would fit into his sociology curriculum—if he knew about them beforehand.

And many comedians would, naturally, be required listening in the ancient history course.

The hottest thing in the record industry is the long-playing "mood" album—items like Music to Read By, Music to Relax By, Music to Dream By.

I'm waiting for one called Music to Listen to Music By.

Georgiann Johnson, the lovely blonde on "Mr. Peeper's" and often on the Campbell TV Soundstage says she wants to get married, but—

"But the only men I meet are TV actors—and I won't marry a TV actor.

She won't say why not, though. Perhaps she's afraid a TV actor-husband might, out of habit, pause at dish-washing time for station identification.

Harry Evans is a man who could tell the men about town how to get there. His job, as editorial director of Family Circle magazine, really doesn't introduce him. But when you list his accomplishments—dancer, song writer, golfer, editor, talent scout, writer, humorist, raconteur, etc.—you get the idea. He's also a friend of everybody who is anybody, plus a few nobodies.

Evans was a St. Augustine, Fla., boy who hit New York in '28 and worked on the old Life magazine in the era of Bob Benchley. He's still a youthful, light-hearted soul, although he shares with many the feeling that the creative spirit along Broadway isn't quite as creative as it once was.

"There's a dilution of talent nowadays," he says. "You could call it bootleg talent. People try to do too much. It's impossible to write something good every week. It takes hard work and lots of rewriting to be good."

In the theatre, for instance—and this is one of Evans' big loves—he says some plays that make money today would have closed quickly in the '30s.

"Plays like 'Sabrina Fair'" he says, mentioning a show that's still doing business, "would have been definitely second-rate in those days."

Actually, even today "Sabrina Fair" isn't considered terriffic—in fact, many people call it "Sabrina Just Fair."

Old-movies-on-TV-jokes are getting as old as old movies on TV. But this one is worth telling. Roger Price, ABC's weatherman and the inventor of "Droodles," says he saw one movie on TV that was so old Buffalo Bill was played by Buffalo Bill.

Why are pop songs so often so juvenile? There's a logical answer. It's not because songwriters are fugitives from the fifth grade. It's simply because most records are bought by juveniles.

Actually, the figures are startling—Jack Pleis of Decca says 70 per cent of all pop records are sold to kids between 10 and 18. And you have to turn out songs that please this majority—even if the majority is in its minority.

Secret Papers Are Reported Missing At U. S. Atom Plant

Washington, March 13 (AP) — Substantial quantities of secret documents, related possibly to hydrogen bomb production, reportedly are missing from the government's huge atomic plant at Hanford, Wash.

Rep. Pelly (R.-Wash.) told newsmen yesterday the Atomic Energy Commission has confirmed informally that certain papers have vanished. Pelly, who said he first heard reports of this late last year, added that AEC did not tell him the nature of the missing classified material, but that he took it for granted it was "top secret."

Pelly said he had no indication the data was stolen by spies, but he asked for an investigation by the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee because, he said, "even if it's a matter of poor housekeeping it's a shocking situation."

The congressman reported Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R.-N.Y.) of the atomic committee has agreed to look into the situation and that an investigator probably will be sent to Hanford shortly. Cole could not be reached for comment.

Silent for Present

An AEC spokesman said the commission would have nothing to say for the time being. At Hanford itself, there was no immediate comment.

The project's main mission is production of plutonium — a fissionable material — for atomic bombs.

However, Dr. Ralph Lapp, a scientist who worked on the World War 2 Manhattan project, said in a recent book that material used in the first big hydrogen blast in November, 1952 was made at Hanford. Dr. Lapp identified this material as tritium, a heavy form of hydrogen.

The January uniform price was $4.30 per hundredweight. In February, 1953, it was $4.25.

The producer butterfat differential for last month was announced at six cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard test.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a news conference yesterday the United States would use atomic weapons in a future war "if it is to our advantage to do so." The armed forces, he added, must be ready to "do what we are told to do" by civilian superiors.

Three After Roosevelt

Los Angeles, March 13 (AP) — James Roosevelt, endorsed by the Democratic organization as the party nominee in the 26th California congressional district, already has three opponents in the June primary. The eldest son of the late President filed for the Democratic nomination yesterday. And Ted Owings, city clerk of Culver City, who has the Republican party endorsement, filed for both party nominations. Another opponent is Buddy Bert Bartlett, an architectural engineer, who is seeking only the Democratic nomination. The fourth aspirant is Ned Redding, publisher of community newspapers, who previously filed for the Democratic nomination despite Roosevelt's selection by a Democratic district council meeting last Sunday.

Committeemen Call for Probe of Charge

Nixon to Answer

the army report.

Dirksen also said in an interview the Republican members yesterday had agreed to meet, go over the army report paragraph by paragraph and have Cohn present, under oath.

Waited for Meeting

Dirksen said he was waiting for the meeting to begin when Sen. Potter (R-Mich.), another subcommittee member, called McCarthy and learned no meeting was to be held.

McCarthy said later it was "an inexcusable oversight" on his part that Dirksen had not been told about the meeting being called off. But he said he had "no choice" about the release of the material from the committee files.

Dirksen said, without elaborating, that Republican members have a responsibility with regard to the committee's staff and "I do mean to meet it."

"There will be no fooling about that—the matter has gone far enough," he said.

Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.), a committee member who had defended McCarthy's methods, said in a statement that Cohn "made a serious mistake" in urging the army to give Schine "treatment different from that accorded any other soldier."

Favors Calling Both

Sen. Potter, another committee member who has worked closely with McCarthy in the past, said that if the army reports "shocking charges" on Cohn's activities were accurate "Mr. Cohn should be removed immediately."

He said, however, he favors calling Cohn and Adams to put them under oath as witnesses.

Other demands for investigation came from members of the Sen. ate Armed Services Committee.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, said he wants an inquiry made to show who is telling the truth in the accusations. But Knowland, a member of the Armed Services Committee, said he thought McCarthy's own subcommittee "ought to get at the bottom of this thing" because its staff members were involved. "They must let the chips fall where they may," he said.

Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), another Armed Services Committee member, authorized a statement that Chairman Saltonstall (R.-Mass.) had indicated Kefauver could raise the issue of an investigation, if he chose, next Thursday. On that day Secretary of Defense Wilson, Stevens and Adams will appear at a public hearing on other matters.

In New York, CBS Commentator Edward R. Murrow replied on his regular news program last night to another blast earlier in the week.

After Murrow had depicted the senator unfavorably in a half hour TV program, McCarthy read a listing of Edward R. Murrow, assistant director, Institute of International Education, as a member of the National Advisory Council of the Moscow University summer session in 1935.

Murrow said in a statement that the school was called off by the Russians before it began, and said further in last night's broadcast that the institute "dealt primarily with the exchange of students and professors between this and foreign countries."

The broadcaster then listed several members of the organization's board of trustees, including John Foster Dulles, secretary of state.

Hopes to End Pier Strike

New York, March 13 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner has called for meeting today with labor leaders and employers in hope of ending a wildcat strike costing the shipping industry an estimated million dollars a day. The mayor intervened in the nine-day-old pier strike after city business leaders yesterday told him New York's economy would be seriously hurt if the walkout continued. Wagner said 5,000 businesses have already been affected and soon may begin to lay off workers. Importers told him that millions of dollars worth of fruit and vegetables will spoil on ships stranded in the port.

Condemns Red Moves

Caracas, Venezuela, March 13 (AP) — The 10th Inter-American Conference today voted overwhelmingly to condemn the activities of the International Communist movement as foreign intervention in American affairs. The vote on this key section of the U. S.-sponsored anti-Communist resolution was 17-1 with only Guatemala voting against it. Mexico and Argentina abstained.

In the Army

An Army report accuses Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) of applying pressure in an effort to get special treatment for G. David Schine, above, a former McCarthy committee consultant, who is now a private in the army. (AP Wirephoto).

Court Order Bans Shifting Electrical Local Into the CIO

Schenectady, March 13 (AP)—A Federal Court order today halted leaders of Local 301, United Electrical Workers Union, Independent, and the CIO Electrical Workers Union from shifting the powerful local into the CIO.

With a sweeping restraining order obtained yesterday, national officials of the embattled, left-wing UE virtually tied up the local's funds and property, estimated at $186,000.

The local is the UE's largest and most powerful unit. It bargains for about 20,000 workers at the main General Electric plant.

The injunction, signed by Federal Judge David N. Edelstein in New York city named James B. Carey, president of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers; Leo Jandreau, business agent of the insurgent local; James Cognetta and Joseph Whitbeck, president and treasurer, respectively, of the local, and John J. Page and Joseph Vicinancz, state CIO officers.

The order, returnable in New York Tuesday, temporarily stalled a move by officials of the local to secede from the UE and affiliate with the IUE-CIO.

It also prohibits local officials and the National CIO-IUE from "transferring, assigning, conveying, giving, loaning, encumbering or in any other manner disposing of any of the funds, property, assets or records of Local 301, except for the normal business of Local 301."

The UE was ousted from the CIO in 1949 on the ground it had "slavishly adhered" to the Communist party line.

20 West Nations

tries wanted assurances that the citizens of individual states would have the right to chose their own form of government and economy without outside interference from any quarter.

An economic subcommittee agreed yeserday to call a conference of American finance ministers later this year, possibly in Washington, to take up the mutual economic affairs confronting the members.

To most of the Latin American delegations attending, these problems are more pressing than a resolution against communism. Their demands for U. S. economic assistance—and for guarantees of good prices for the raw materials they export to the United States—were expected to be voiced loudly here during the remainder of the meeting.

Two U. S. Planes

destroyed a British Wellington bomber over the same frontier area, killing seven British airmen.

Speaking in Omaha, Neb., last night, NATO Commander Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said the Communist attack on the two navy planes gave new evidence of Russian hostility to the free world. He said the Soviet propaganda campaign to show it had nothing but peaceful aims was belied by this latest incident.

Market Retreats

the past eight.

The very height of the market presently has brought warnings of the possibility of a near-term reaction, a natural development following such a sustained rise.

There are several factors adding weight to the reaction theory. For one thing there is the pressure of selling for cash to meet income tax payments. Another, and perhaps more important, is the fact that Monday is the six-month anniversary of the start of the recovery drive.

Long Term Capital Gains

Profits made on the sale of stocks held six months count as long-term capital gains for tax purposes—a lower rate. As a consequence, from this point forward there will be the pressure of profit-taking for capital gains.

That doesn't mean the market is bound to go lower. There are many things that have been boosting the market ahead. They include favorable tax developments in Washington, continued high sales and earnings in key industries, good dividends, and an improved business outlook.

Three Cop Killers

dit fired and Slessman fell, a bullet wound in his neck.

As Slessman fell, Patrolman Frank W. Hardy, 30, arrived and jumped from his car, running toward the parking lot on the east side of the bank. A second bandit fired through a window, hitting Hardy in the head. He dropped to the sidewalk, mortally wounded.

Wounded in Chest

Then ,the third officer, Vernon R. Chase, arrived just as two of the gunmen broke through a side door. One fired quickly and Chase was down a few feet from Hardy, a bullet wound in the chest.

Two of the bandits jumped into their getaway car as the third kicked out a plate glass window and jumped through. He dropped a sack containing $90,800 as he fled the building and started running up the street.

The men in the car picked up their comrade and sped away, easily outdistancing a fourth patrol car which drove up just after the shooting was over.

The getaway automobile was found later, a few miles away, its motor still warm and a .45 caliber bullet on the front seat. No further clues of real import have been uncovered, police officials reported late last night.

Unemployment

to halt this dangerous rush toward a full-blown depression."

But some government spokesmen say there are signs the unemployment trend is slowing.

There are a few clues to what may happen to March unemployment but nothing so far conclusive.

Flanders Calls Tax

only two votes out of 15 on the group in favor of knocking out the House excise reductions.

These presumably would be cast by Sens. Byrd (D.-Va.) and Williams (R.-Del.). Both contend that the budget should be balanced before any further tax reductions are made.

Court Rules Race

amined in the case, but that he would study it to see if there were any more questions to be asked.

The decision upheld an Appellate Division finding.

The majority opinion said the commission would "be restricted to such material as is relevant to the subject of the inquiry but is not obliged to take petitioners' word for what is or is not relevant."

Against Personal Phase

The five said they did not object to producing income tax records and information relating directly to the harness track probe. However, they objected to presenting what they called personal information.

Justice James B. M. McNally of State Supreme Court had said there was reasonable ground to believe that Abraham Chait, an ex-convict, was the real owner of stock in the Algam Corp. Algam owns Yonkers Raceway and leases the plant to the Yonkers Trotting Assn.

The stock in question was listed as owned by Burton Chait.

In a dissenting opinion, Associate Judge Marvin R. Dye held that the five should be required to produce only certain documents and not the entire list sought by the Moreland Commission.

Asked Complete Records

The commission had contended that it needed to see complete financial records of the Chaits and Ellis.

The court held that "there was no question of criminal conduct on the part of Abraham Chait involved since even were he a beneficial owner of Algam stock that beneficial ownership would not constitute a criminal act."

The court also handed decisions in two murder cases.

In a 5-2 ruling, it ordered a new hearing for three men condemned to die in the electric chair for the holdup murder of Reader's Digest magazine messenger April 13, 1950.

Nathan Wissner, 42, of Brooklyn, and Harry A. Stein, 55, and Calman Cooper, 46, both of Manhattan, were convicted Dec. 21, 1950.

They were accused of shooting Andrew Petrini, 35, of Mount Kisco, at Chappaqua.

In an opinion, the court, which already had postponed the men's execution date, said that Westchester County Court should have held a hearing on a defense application for a decision as to whether their right to counsel had been impaired.

Associate Judges Marvin D. Dye and John Van Voorhis issued a dissenting opinion.

In the other case, the court voted 4-3 to uphold the first-degree murder conviction of Leonardo Salemi, 42, of New York city, in the slaying of Walter Florenza in a Second avenue grill.

Salemi was condemned to die the week of April 26 in Sing Sing's electric chair.

The dissenting opinion of Chief Judge Edmund H. Lewis and Associate Judges Charles S. Desmond and John Van Voorhis held that the judge's charge to the jury had marshaled the evidence.

Expects Ratification

Athens, Greece, March 13 (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a news conference today "I am sure France will shortly ratify the European defense agreement." He said he based this conviction on talks he had in Paris Tuesday with Premier Joseph Laniel and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. And Ted Owings, city clerk of Culver City, who has the Republican party endorsement, filed for both party nominations. The fourth aspirant is Ned Redding, publisher of community newspapers, who previously filed for the Democratic nomination despite Roosevelt's selection by a Democratic district council meeting last Sunday.

Committeemen Call for Probe of Charge

the army report.

Dirksen also said in an interview the Republican members yesterday had agreed to meet, go over the army report paragraph by paragraph and have Cohn present, under oath.

Waited for Meeting

Dirksen said he was waiting for the meeting to begin when Sen. Potter (R-Mich.), another subcommittee member, called McCarthy and learned no meeting was to be held.

McCarthy said later it was "an inexcusable oversight" on his part that Dirksen had not been told about the meeting being called off. But he said he had "no choice" about the release of the material from the committee files.

Dirksen said, without elaborating, that Republican members have a responsibility with regard to the committee's staff and "I do mean to meet it."

"There will be no fooling about that—the matter has gone far enough," he said.

Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.), a committee member who had defended McCarthy's methods, said in a statement that Cohn "made a serious mistake" in urging the army to give Schine "treatment different from that accorded any other soldier."

Favors Calling Both

Sen. Potter, another committee member who has worked closely with McCarthy in the past, said that if the army reports "shocking charges" on Cohn's activities were accurate "Mr. Cohn should be removed immediately."

He said, however, he favors calling Cohn and Adams to put them under oath as witnesses.

Other demands for investigation came from members of the Sen. ate Armed Services Committee.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, said he wants an inquiry made to show who is telling the truth in the accusations. But Knowland, a member of the Armed Services Committee, said he thought McCarthy's own subcommittee "ought to get at the bottom of this thing" because its staff members were involved. "They must let the chips fall where they may," he said.

Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), another Armed Services Committee member, authorized a statement that Chairman Saltonstall (R.-Mass.) had indicated Kefauver could raise the issue of an investigation, if he chose, next Thursday. On that day Secretary of Defense Wilson, Stevens and Adams will appear at a public hearing on other matters.

In New York, CBS Commentator Edward R. Murrow replied on his regular news program last night to another blast earlier in the week.

After Murrow had depicted the senator unfavorably in a half hour TV program, McCarthy read a listing of Edward R. Murrow, assistant director, Institute of International Education, as a member of the National Advisory Council of the Moscow University summer session in 1935.

Murrow said in a statement that the school was called off by the Russians before it began, and said further in last night's broadcast that the institute "dealt primarily with the exchange of students and professors between this and foreign countries."

The broadcaster then listed several members of the organization's board of trustees, including John Foster Dulles, secretary of state.

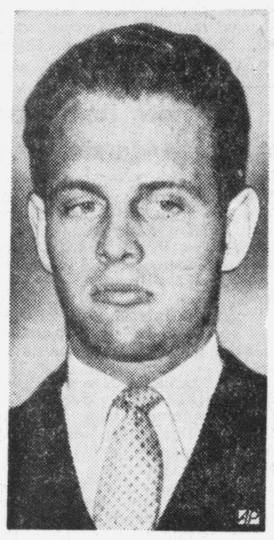

Hopes to End Pier Strike

New York, March 13 (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner has called for meeting today with labor leaders and employers in hope of ending a wildcat strike costing the shipping industry an estimated million dollars a day. The mayor intervened in the nine-day-old pier strike after city business leaders yesterday told him New York's economy would be seriously hurt if the walkout continued. Wagner said 5,000 businesses have already been affected and soon may begin to lay off workers. Importers told him that millions of dollars worth of fruit and vegetables will spoil on ships stranded in the port.

Condemns Red Moves

Caracas, Venezuela, March 13 (AP) — The 10th Inter-American Conference today voted overwhelmingly to condemn the activities of the International Communist movement as foreign intervention in American affairs. The vote on this key section of the U. S.-sponsored anti-Communist resolution was 17-1 with only Guatemala voting against it. Mexico and Argentina abstained.

In the Army

An Army report accuses Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) of applying pressure in an effort to get special treatment for G. David Schine, above, a former McCarthy committee consultant, who is now a private in the army. (AP Wirephoto).

Court Order Bans Shifting Electrical Local Into the CIO

Schenectady, March 13 (AP)—A Federal Court order today halted leaders of Local 301, United Electrical Workers Union, Independent, and the CIO Electrical Workers Union from shifting the powerful local into the CIO.

With a sweeping restraining order obtained yesterday, national officials of the embattled, left-wing UE virtually tied up the local's funds and property, estimated at $186,000.

The local is the UE's largest and most powerful unit. It bargains for about 20,000 workers at the main General Electric plant.

The injunction, signed by Federal Judge David N. Edelstein in New York city named James B. Carey, president of the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers; Leo Jandreau, business agent of the insurgent local; James Cognetta and Joseph Whitbeck, president and treasurer, respectively, of the local, and John J. Page and Joseph Vicinancz, state CIO officers.

The order, returnable in New York Tuesday, temporarily stalled a move by officials of the local to secede from the UE and affiliate with the IUE-CIO.

It also prohibits local officials and the National CIO-IUE from "transferring, assigning, conveying, giving, loaning, encumbering or in any other manner disposing of any of the funds, property, assets or records of Local 301, except for the normal business of Local 301."

The UE was ousted from the CIO in 1949 on the ground it had "slavishly adhered" to the Communist party line.

20 West Nations

tries wanted assurances that the citizens of individual states would have the right to chose their own form of government and economy without outside interference from any quarter.

An economic subcommittee agreed yeserday to call a conference of American finance ministers later this year, possibly in Washington, to take up the mutual economic affairs confronting the members.

To most of the Latin American delegations attending, these problems are more pressing than a resolution against communism. Their demands for U. S. economic assistance—and for guarantees of good prices for the raw materials they export to the United States—were expected to be voiced loudly here during the remainder of the meeting.

Two U. S. Planes

destroyed a British Wellington bomber over the same frontier area, killing seven British airmen.

Speaking in Omaha, Neb., last night, NATO Commander Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther said the Communist attack on the two navy planes gave new evidence of Russian hostility to the free world. He said the Soviet propaganda campaign to show it had nothing but peaceful aims was belied by this latest incident.

Market Retreats

the past eight.

The very height of the market presently has brought warnings of the possibility of a near-term reaction, a natural development following such a sustained rise.

There are several factors adding weight to the reaction theory. For one thing there is the pressure of selling for cash to meet income tax payments. Another, and perhaps more important, is the fact that Monday is the six-month anniversary of the start of the recovery drive.

Long Term Capital Gains

Profits made on the sale of stocks held six months count as long-term capital gains for tax purposes—a lower rate. As a consequence, from this point forward there will be the pressure of profit-taking for capital gains.

That doesn't mean the market is bound to go lower. There are many things that have been boosting the market ahead. They include favorable tax developments in Washington, continued high sales and earnings in key industries, good dividends, and an improved business outlook.

Three Cop Killers

dit fired and Slessman fell, a bullet wound in his neck.

As Slessman fell, Patrolman Frank W. Hardy, 30, arrived and jumped from his car, running toward the parking lot on the east side of the bank. A second bandit fired through a window, hitting Hardy in the head. He dropped to the sidewalk, mortally wounded.

Wounded in Chest

Then ,the third officer, Vernon R. Chase, arrived just as two of the gunmen broke through a side door. One fired quickly and Chase was down a few feet from Hardy, a bullet wound in the chest.

Two of the bandits jumped into their getaway car as the third kicked out a plate glass window and jumped through. He dropped a sack containing $90,800 as he fled the building and started running up the street.

The men in the car picked up their comrade and sped away, easily outdistancing a fourth patrol car which drove up just after the shooting was over.

The getaway automobile was found later, a few miles away, its motor still warm and a .45 caliber bullet on the front seat. No further clues of real import have been uncovered, police officials reported late last night.

The funeral will be held at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday at the Hartley and Lamouree Funeral Home, 8 Second street, Saugerties, thence to St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, at 10 a. m. where a Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights, Saugerties.

Unemployment

to halt this dangerous rush toward a full-blown depression."

But some government spokesmen say there are signs the unemployment trend is slowing.

There are a few clues to what may happen to March unemployment but nothing so far conclusive.

Flanders Calls Tax

only two votes out of 15 on the group in favor of knocking out the House excise reductions.

These presumably would be cast by Sens. Byrd (D.-Va.) and Williams (R.-Del.). Both contend that the budget should be balanced before any further tax reductions are made.

Court Rules Race

amined in the case, but that he would study it to see if there were any more questions to be asked.

The decision upheld an Appellate Division finding.

The majority opinion said the commission would "be restricted to such material as is relevant to the subject of the inquiry but is not obliged to take petitioners' word for what is or is not relevant."

Against Personal Phase

The five said they did not object to producing income tax records and information relating directly to the harness track probe. However, they objected to presenting what they called personal information.

Justice James B. M. McNally of State Supreme Court had said there was reasonable ground to believe that Abraham Chait, an ex-convict, was the real owner of stock in the Algam Corp. Algam owns Yonkers Raceway and leases the plant to the Yonkers Trotting Assn.

The stock in question was listed as owned by Burton Chait.

In a dissenting opinion, Associate Judge Marvin R. Dye held that the five should be required to produce only certain documents and not the entire list sought by the Moreland Commission.

Asked Complete Records

The commission had contended that it needed to see complete financial records of the Chaits and Ellis.

The court held that "there was no question of criminal conduct on the part of Abraham Chait involved since even were he a beneficial owner of Algam stock that beneficial ownership would not constitute a criminal act."

The court also handed decisions in two murder cases.

In a 5-2 ruling, it ordered a new hearing for three men condemned to die in the electric chair for the holdup murder of Reader's Digest magazine messenger April 13, 1950.

Nathan Wissner, 42, of Brooklyn, and Harry A. Stein, 55, and Calman Cooper, 46, both of Manhattan, were convicted Dec. 21, 1950.

They were accused of shooting Andrew Petrini, 35, of Mount Kisco, at Chappaqua.

In an opinion, the court, which already had postponed the men's execution date, said that Westchester County Court should have held a hearing on a defense application for a decision as to whether their right to counsel had been impaired.

Associate Judges Marvin D. Dye and John Van Voorhis issued a dissenting opinion.

In the other case, the court voted 4-3 to uphold the first-degree murder conviction of Leonardo Salemi, 42, of New York city, in the slaying of Walter Florenza in a Second avenue grill.

Salemi was condemned to die the week of April 26 in Sing Sing's electric chair.

The dissenting opinion of Chief Judge Edmund H. Lewis and Associate Judges Charles S. Desmond and John Van Voorhis held that the judge's charge to the jury had marshaled the evidence.

Women Executives Say Glamor on Job Won't Raise Salary

By Dorothy Roe
(AP Women's Editor)

Sex Appeal may get you a date with the boss, but it won't produce a salary ipcrease.

This is the opinion of two young women who have achieved top executive jobs in widely separated fields. One is Cecilia W. Kelly, recently appointed vice president of one of the nation's largest flooring concerns. The other is Ida Raisbeck, vice president of a big advertising agency.

Miss Kelly's recipe for success is to learn everything possible about your job, keep your eye on the next step forward and never watch the clock. She adds:

"Many girls have the mistaken notion that by adopting glamorous styles they will make a good impression on the executives. All cartoons to the contrary, this is just not so. An office is a place to work, not for flirtation. So, if a girl is really serious about advancing to a better job, rather than a dinner date, she should dress attractively but always conservatively. The girl who relies on personal charm to win advancement is deceiving herself."

Complete As a Woman

Miss Raisbeck, known as Becky, has this advice for career girls heading for the tycoon bracket:

1. Don't throw your sex around. In business, sex is a hex.

2. Don't compete with a man as though you were a man. Compete with them, but as a woman. That doesn't mean to make eyes at the boss, but to think as a woman, since the woman's viewpoint is important in every business.

3. Don't claim special privileges because you are a woman. Nothing makes a man madder (during business hours, that is).

4. Don't expect as much money or as fast advancement as a man would get for doing the same job. This is a fact every woman in business must accept.

5. Don't talk about your feminine intuition. There's no such animal. Intuition is just a dainty name for experience.

6. Don't expect to sit in on important board meetings right at the start, and don't ever expect to crash the velvet rope at men's clubs, no matter how high in the company hierarchy you may go.

7. Don't discriminate against other women after you've made your mark. This is a common fault of women executives. They can't bear competition from their own sex.

8. Don't mother your business associates. Most men get enough of that at home.

9. Don't throw your career at the men in your life— or there will be no men in your life.

Both Miss Kelly and Miss Raisbeck claim they achieved their present eminence in spite of—not because of — being women. It's tougher to fight your way to the top if you're hampered by petticoats, but it can be done.

Herrick Will Join Rylance Printers

Ronald B. Herrick will join the staff of Elmer Rylance and Sons, Inc., printers, on Monday, it was announced Friday afternoon.

Herrick will retain his interest in Ackerman and Herrick, Inc., but will be no longer actively engaged in the hardware business, located at 280 Fair street. Elbert D. Ackerman and Herrick established the hardware firm in September, 1945, after Herrick's discharge from the army.

Prior to his military service during World War 2, Herrick was employed for nearly 15 years in printing work in New York city, during which time he was employed by various firms including a newspaper and four-color process printing houses. He will be in the Rylance firm's production department.

Herrick is a member of the Kiwanis Club, and is well known in the area for his avocation of making and performing with marionettes. Ackerman, who is secretary of the Lions Club, will be joined by Mrs. Ackerman in the active operation of the hardware store.

At one stage in their development eels are so transparent that print can be read through their bodies.

Arts and Crafts Day Celebrated by Girl Scouts

Girl Scouts of Troop No. 4 of St. James Church, are working on a project, Nature Centerpiece, to be used at the annual Girl Scout dinner in April. Scouts who drew up plans for this centerpiece and will complete it, are, left to right, Nancy Palen, Bonnie Dennis, Barbara Palen, Beverly Lewis, Marlene Hollenbeck, and Dorothy Rawdings.

Using clay and crepe paper, the girls are experimenting to get realistic grass and trees, and shaping figures out of pipe cleaners to represent a group of girls studying nature. Foil is fashioned to make a brook and pond which will hold water, clay for a bridge and a tree stump with a squirrel perched on it. Mrs. Reynolds Van Keuren, troop leader, is directing the project, at meetings every Monday evening at St. James Church. The centerpiece will be completed in two weeks. (Freeman photo)

Training Program From Brownies to Senior Girl Scouts Leads to World Understanding

By MARIANNE DAVIS
Freeman Society Editor

"The Brownies learn in scouting, a very important survival skill—getting along with each other," says Mrs. Kenneth Martin, program chairman and member of board of directors of Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. These youngsters, ages seven through nine, are the youngest members of the international groups throughout the world, celebrating Girl Scout week.

Mrs. Martin explained that the Brownies investigate community, visiting shops, public buildings and industries under the guidance of their leaders. "This will build them into good citizens," said Mrs. Martin, "and we hope that through them people in all countries will learn to get along with each other."

Starting with the youngest members and training them into community responsibility is a good beginning. The Brownies Troop of the Church of the Comforter, under the leadership of Mrs. DeWitt, will visit Schwenk's bakery soon to learn how it serves the community, and incidentally, to view many more baked goods than can come out of mother's oven at one time.

Other Brownies have already visited many grocery stores and post offices to get acquainted first hand with stamps and soap flakes, and how buyers act.

Baby Sitters During Election

Intermediate age, girls, from grades 4 through 8, form the greatest number of scouts in Ulster county, according to Mrs. Martin, spokesman for the week-long celebration of the organization. All girls work on badges in 11 fields, with the awarding of a badge assurance that the girl is prepared to serve in that specific field. Working toward the Community Life badge, girl scouts served as aids for voters, baby sitting, and allowing busy mothers time to go to the polls. City-wide troops make favors for hospitals, particularly the TB Hospital, including tray favors and scrapbooks.

Under the arts and crafts program, most of the troops are now making favors for the annual scout dinner in April, as shown in the photograph. These are intricate designs, to show how much ingenuity each scout can show in making pipe-cleaning figures, some of girl scouts tying regulation knots, and clay models of trees and shrubs. Troop No. 25 of the Jewish Community Center under the direction of Mrs. Jack Epstein is making a centerpiece showing the scouts engaged in tying various knots.

Scout From Ecuador Was Visitor

International Friendship is a very important program, Mrs. Martin explained, with the birthday party this afternoon at the MJM School helping the fund. Mrs. Frederick Spalt planned the party, where every troop has a special box in which the scout places as many pennies as she is years old for the Juliette Low fund. All of this money will be given to the International Friendship Fund to enable the establishment of girl scout troops all over the world.

Miss Norma Lazano of Ecuador visited Camp Wendy, the Council summer camp, last year through this Friendship Fund. She exchanged valuable information about scouting in her country and scouting activities here, according to Mrs. Martin, director of Camp Wendy.

Girl scouts who complete the homemaking badge requirements are prepared to help at home—willingly, Mrs. Martin emphasizes. They give their mothers welcome assistance in the many household duties through the Girl Scout courses. Troop No. 62 of the Church of the Comforter is now busy making skirts for themselves as a step toward earning this badge. And their mothers are eagerly awaiting the results of the training. This troop visited the Telephone Company and other places of interest recently in order to increase their knowledge of the community.

Scouts Distribute Pamphlets

Among other activities, Senior Service Troop No. 73 of First Dutch Church, painted the carts used by the women's groups in serving suppers. These green carts are now as attractive as they are useful. These ambitious Scouts painted their meeting room in the church, and are now planning to refurbish the clinic on O'Reilly street. Miss Drusilla Nestell is the leader of this troop, with Miss Ella Maritz as assistant.

All the intermediates dress in Scout uniform to distribute cancer pamphlets to doctors in the city, and help at the Tumor Clinic on Broadway. They are all working on folding leaflets giving information about Camp Wendy, with summer planning just around the corner.

This camp is the center of all activities during the hot and otherwise inactive summer months. Supervised play and craft programs keep the Scouts busy and happy throughout vacation weeks.

Another activity is shown by the Communion Breakfast planned by Mrs. Frank Graney, leader of Troop Nos. 63 and 71 of St. Mary's Church. This will be for the scouts and and Brownies of that church, and will feature a guest speaker at the meeting.

Executive Organization of Scouts

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. with Mrs. DeWitt Hasbrouck as president, makes plans, policies and decisions. Every registered adult scout in Ulster county is a member of this council, which has one meeting a year.

The board of directors carries out the decisions of the council, with listening posts for needs in the community in each community organization.

There are 1,300 girls registered as scouts in Ulster county, with 400 adults on the rolls, including leaders, assistants, and committee members. These 400 adults are active in guiding the activities of the 77 troops, which have five sponsors each.

Mrs. William Heidgerd of New Paltz is training chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Martin is program chairman, and Mrs. David Ennis had charge of the successful cookie sale which is selling the 13,000 boxes ordered by the council.

Other executives include, Mrs. Gordon Anderson, treasurer of Council; Mrs. Richard Holbrook, vice president; Mrs. Everett Coty of Napanoch, second vice president; Mrs. Ashton Hart of High Falls, secretary; and Miss Anna S. Draudt of High Falls, registrar.

Look to Increased Activity

The Juliette Low representative is Mrs. Donald Downs of Kerhonkson; Mrs. Loren Campbell of New Paltz is member of the nominating committee; Mrs. Huyler Van Wagenen of Kingston is organizations chairman; and Mrs. Oscar Newkirk is staff and office chairman.

Henry Page of Kingston is chairman of the camp committee and Francis J. O'Neil is chairman of the finance committee.

Other board members from communities throughout the county include Mrs. Max Chirlin, Mrs. Charles Rapp of Woodstock, Mrs. Herbert DuBois and Mrs. Philip Peters of Milton, Mrs. Jeremy Bouchard of Kingston, and Mrs. Sadie Katz of Ellenville.

These executives and the leaders of the scout troops in the county are joining in the celebrations today marking the 42nd birthday of the Girl Scouts and are looking forward to even more active days ahead, concluded Mrs. Martin.

Striking Necklines Mark Paris Suits

Girl Scout Color Guard of Troop No. 40

Brokerage Manager Is Held for Taking Money

New York, March 13 (AP)—A brokerage office manager, employed by his firm for 25 years, has been accused of stealing $50,000 from clients to cover horse betting losses.

Jules Glass, 44, of Cohen, Simonson & Co., was arrested yesterday and charged with grand larceny and forgery.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Glass forged signatures on checks for accounts that had been inactive in recent months. Hogan's office said "slow horses" were to blame for Glass' troubles, despite his $30,000 to $40,000 yearly income.

Ike Rests for Speech

Thurmont, Md., March 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower rested today at his Catoctin mountain lodge and planned some work on the tax address he will make to the nation over television and radio Monday night. The President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrived yesterday at Camp David, presidential retreat named for their grandson. They plan to return to Washington tomorrow evening.

Barbara Hutton Quits Rubirosa, Is Report

Palm Beach, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Reports that Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton had walked out on her latest prince charming, Porfirio Rubirosa, gave the international smart set another choice morsel of gossip to chew on today.

Society sources here said Barbara left the rented honeymoon villa Thursday night and moved in with her aunt, Mrs. James P. Donahue, at the Everglades Club.

She was reported in seclusion and did not answer her telephone. Rubirosa, the suave playboy-diplomat she married Dec. 30, was reachable but not talking.

"I do not know anything," Rubirosa told a reporter when asked about the separation reports. "Ask her."

Rubirosa, the Dominican republic minister to France, hasn't been in Palm Beach the full 10 weeks since the honeymoon with Barbara began. Last week, there were rumors that he flew to Phoenix, Ariz., to see an old flame, actress Zsa Zsa Gabor. He denied them.

A few days later, he popped up in Sebring, Fla., to drive an Italian Lancia in the International Grand Prix Endurance Race for sports cars. He told reporters Barbara wouldn't watch him drive because "she is terrified even when I play polo."

The surprise marriage of Barbara and "Rubi" was her fifth and his fourth.

Orange Jury Indicts 2 On Poor Box Charges

Newburgh, March 13 (AP)—The Orange County Grand Jury returned indictments yesterday against two Yonkers youths who police said admitted robbing church poor boxes of about $300.

Harry Karst, 23, and Richard Shea, 26, were accused in the indictments of third degree burglary and petty larceny.

The men were arrested at Montgomery last month. Police quoted them as admitting then that they had been robbing poor boxes in New York city and northern New Jersey for the past three months.

Mrs. Frederick Spalt planned the party, where every troop has a special box in which the scout places as many pennies as she is years old for the Juliette Low fund. All of this money will be given to the International Friendship Fund to enable the establishment of girl scout troops all over the world.

Miss Norma Lazano of Ecuador visited Camp Wendy, the Council summer camp, last year through this Friendship Fund. She exchanged valuable information about scouting in her country and scouting activities here, according to Mrs. Martin, director of Camp Wendy.

Girl scouts who complete the homemaking badge requirements are prepared to help at home—willingly, Mrs. Martin emphasizes. They give their mothers welcome assistance in the many household duties through the Girl Scout courses. Troop No. 62 of the Church of the Comforter is now busy making skirts for themselves as a step toward earning this badge. And their mothers are eagerly awaiting the results of the training. This troop visited the Telephone Company and other places of interest recently in order to increase their knowledge of the community.

Scouts Distribute Pamphlets

Among other activities, Senior Service Troop No. 73 of First Dutch Church, painted the carts used by the women's groups in serving suppers. These green carts are now as attractive as they are useful. These ambitious Scouts painted their meeting room in the church, and are now planning to refurbish the clinic on O'Reilly street. Miss Drusilla Nestell is the leader of this troop, with Miss Ella Maritz as assistant.

All the intermediates dress in Scout uniform to distribute cancer pamphlets to doctors in the city, and help at the Tumor Clinic on Broadway. They are all working on folding leaflets giving information about Camp Wendy, with summer planning just around the corner.

This camp is the center of all activities during the hot and otherwise inactive summer months. Supervised play and craft programs keep the Scouts busy and happy throughout vacation weeks.

Another activity is shown by the Communion Breakfast planned by Mrs. Frank Graney, leader of Troop Nos. 63 and 71 of St. Mary's Church. This will be for the scouts and and Brownies of that church, and will feature a guest speaker at the meeting.

Executive Organization of Scouts

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, Inc. with Mrs. DeWitt Hasbrouck as president, makes plans, policies and decisions. Every registered adult scout in Ulster county is a member of this council, which has one meeting a year.

The board of directors carries out the decisions of the council, with listening posts for needs in the community in each community organization.

There are 1,300 girls registered as scouts in Ulster county, with 400 adults on the rolls, including leaders, assistants, and committee members. These 400 adults are active in guiding the activities of the 77 troops, which have five sponsors each.

Mrs. William Heidgerd of New Paltz is training chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Martin is program chairman, and Mrs. David Ennis had charge of the successful cookie sale which is selling the 13,000 boxes ordered by the council.

Other executives include, Mrs. Gordon Anderson, treasurer of Council; Mrs. Richard Holbrook, vice president; Mrs. Everett Coty of Napanoch, second vice president; Mrs. Ashton Hart of High Falls, secretary; and Miss Anna S. Draudt of High Falls, registrar.

Look to Increased Activity

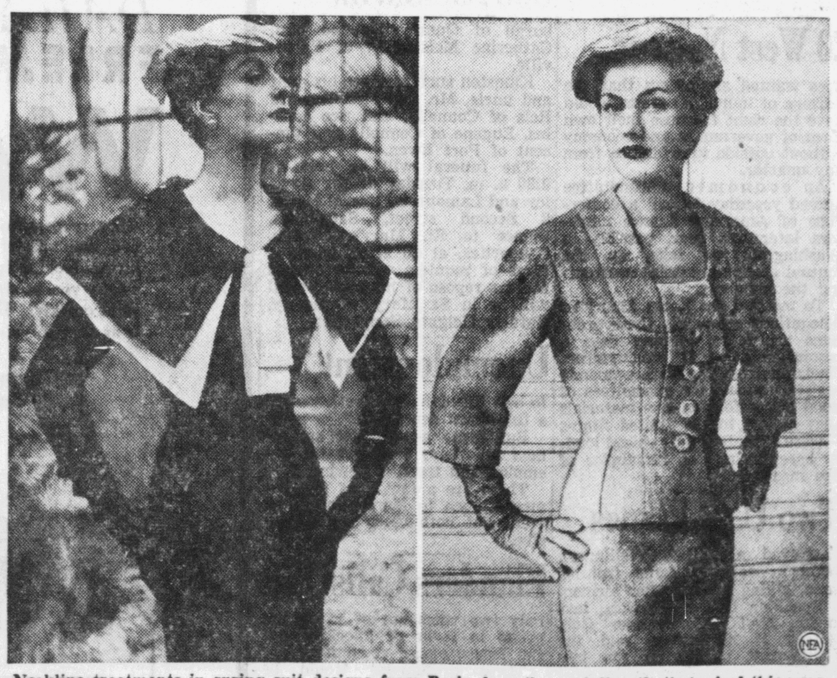

The Juliette Low representative is Mrs. Donald Downs of Kerhonkson; Mrs. Loren Campbell of New Paltz is member of the nominating committee; Mrs. Huyler Van Wagenen of Kingston is organizations chairman; and Mrs. Oscar Newkirk is staff and office chairman.

Henry Page of Kingston is chairman of the camp committee and Francis J. O'Neil is chairman of the finance committee.

Other board members from communities throughout the county include Mrs. Max Chirlin, Mrs. Charles Rapp of Woodstock, Mrs. Herbert DuBois and Mrs. Philip Peters of Milton, Mrs. Jeremy Bouchard of Kingston, and Mrs. Sadie Katz of Ellenville.

These executives and the leaders of the scout troops in the county are joining in the celebrations today marking the 42nd birthday of the Girl Scouts and are looking forward to even more active days ahead, concluded Mrs. Martin.

Striking Necklines Mark Paris Suits

Girl Scouts of Troop No. 4 of St. James Church, are working on a project, Nature Centerpiece, to be used at the annual Girl Scout dinner in April. Scouts who drew up plans for this centerpiece and will complete it, are, left to right, Nancy Palen, Bonnie Dennis, Barbara Palen, Beverly Lewis, Marlene Hollenbeck, and Dorothy Rawdings.

Using clay and crepe paper, the girls are experimenting to get realistic grass and trees, and shaping figures out of pipe cleaners to represent a group of girls studying nature. Foil is fashioned to make a brook and pond which will hold water, clay for a bridge and a tree stump with a squirrel perched on it. Mrs. Reynolds Van Keuren, troop leader, is directing the project, at meetings every Monday evening at St. James Church. The centerpiece will be completed in two weeks. (Freeman photo)

Barbara Hutton Quits Rubirosa, Is Report

Palm Beach, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Reports that Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton had walked out on her latest prince charming, Porfirio Rubirosa, gave the international smart set another choice morsel of gossip to chew on today.

Society sources here said Barbara left the rented honeymoon villa Thursday night and moved in with her aunt, Mrs. James P. Donahue, at the Everglades Club.

She was reported in seclusion and did not answer her telephone. Rubirosa, the suave playboy-diplomat she married Dec. 30, was reachable but not talking.

"I do not know anything," Rubirosa told a reporter when asked about the separation reports. "Ask her."

Rubirosa, the Dominican republic minister to France, hasn't been in Palm Beach the full 10 weeks since the honeymoon with Barbara began. Last week, there were rumors that he flew to Phoenix, Ariz., to see an old flame, actress Zsa Zsa Gabor. He denied them.

A few days later, he popped up in Sebring, Fla., to drive an Italian Lancia in the International Grand Prix Endurance Race for sports cars. He told reporters Barbara wouldn't watch him drive because "she is terrified even when I play polo."

The surprise marriage of Barbara and "Rubi" was her fifth and his fourth.

Mrs. Lillia Kavey Tells Sisterhoods Of Modern Israel

Mrs. Lillia Kavey addressed the annual Tri-Sisterhood meeting held in the Ahavath Israel Synagogue Wednesday evening. More than 600 attended at which Agudas Achim and Temple Emanuel Sisterhoods were guests of Ahavath Israel.

The welcoming address was given by Mrs. Murray Greene, president of the Sisterhood of Ahavath Israel. Mrs. David Kohn, wife of Rabbi Kohn of Ahavath Israel, presented the opening prayer.

Mrs. Greene introduced Mrs. Lillia Kavey, guest speaker. Mrs. Kavey emphasized the importance of unity among the people, and made the women feel that they play an important role in bringing and keeping Judaism alive in the home and in the community.

She pointed out that even in the most remote corners of the world, seen on her travels, Jewish people have kept their heritage alive even though they were presecuted for it.

Mrs. Kavey was in Israel in 1951, and on a return visit in 1953 she was amazed at the miracles that had taken place in two short years. Here people, traditionally Jews from different countries had united to rebuild the Jewish homeland, going back to the Bible for guidance.

She said that only because of this unity and willingness to sacrifice have the miracles of fertile land come to pass.

Following Mrs. Kavey's talk, refreshments were served in vestry hall. The two guest presidents poured.

Malenkov Declares Russia Is Against Cold War Policy

London, March 13 (AP)—Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov said last night Russia "takes a strong stand against the policy of a cold war" because this policy is preparation for a "world slaughter' that would destroy civilization.

Campaigning over Moscow radio for a Parliament seat in next Sunday's one-party elections, Malenkov said:

"We stand for peaceful economic competition of the Soviet Union with all capitalist countries, including, of course, the United States. The Soviet government is consistently following the view that any controversial question of today, difficult as it may be, can be solved by peaceful means.

"It is generally recognized," he added, "that 1953 brought some easing of world tension." He said the Soviet government "stands for a further reduction," and it is only a "myth" that she plans aggression.

A third world war, "with the existence of modern means of destruction, would mean destruction of world civilization," Malenkov declared.

He charged that the western countries "approach a solution of important international issues as a close military group which values aggressive strategic considerations uppermost."

This, according to Malenkov, is the main point blocking better East-West relations.

Iran Police Nab Most Wanted Man

Tehran, Iran, March 13 (AP)—Hossein Fatemi, Iran's "most wanted" man since last August, was picked up by police in a Tehran suburb today and jailed. Fatemi, a fiery Nationalist, was foreign minister under Mohammed Mossadegh until the forces of the Shah deposed Mossadegh last fall.

Soon after Fatemi was brought to police headquarters an ardent pro-Shah backer tried to wrest him away and kill him.

Three soldiers with bayonets leveled at Jafari's huge belly stopped him at the door leading to the corridor. Pounding his chest, Jafari bawled:

"In the name of Allah, hand this man to me so that I can break him into little pieces. Long live the Shah. Down with Mossadegh and his followers."

The police were adamant and Jafari stomped out.

Fatemi, 36, fled into hiding during the bloody royalist coup which overthrew the Mossadegh regime Aug. 19. He first was reported "torn to bits" by an angry mob, then later was said to have escaped to Egypt or Syria.

But Premier Gen. Cazollah Zahedi, who led the anti-Mossadegh coup, has said all along he believed Fatemi was hiding somewhere in Tehran.

Fatemi was No. 1 aide to Mossadegh in pushing through Iran's nationalization bill which seized this country's rich petroleum industry from the British. His former boss already is serving a three-year solitary confinement sentence on charges of treason.

Carroll Is Sentenced On Bad Check Charge

Mineola, March 13 (AP)—Eugene J. Carroll, whom police say boasted he netted up to $800 a month looting dormitories at major colleges throughout the east, was sentenced to prison yesterday for passing a bad check in a food store.

Carroll, 26, father of five children, was given a 2½ to 10-year term. He was arrested last December when his wife, Joan, said he threatened to shoot her after she told him she was expecting their sixth child.

During questioning, police said, Carroll told of the dormitory burglaries.

On Dec. 14, Carroll tried to hang himself in his cell. State psychiatrists later judged him sane.

Teacher's Survey

As a result of a survey conducted by the Dame Rumor staff, concerning the working week of teachers at Kingston High, it was discovered that Kingston High School teachers average almost 52½ hours a week.

While it was found that few teachers spend more than 42 hours a week in school itself, a large number of the faculty spent from 10 to 15 hours a week on school work at home.

Council Sponsors Circus

Kingston High School Student Council is again sponsoring the Cole Brothers Circus, one of America's most distinguished indoor shows which will give both an afternoon and evening performance, March 31 at the Kate Walton Field House.

The Cole All Star Circus is the oldest traveling indoor circus in the country and carries 15 thrilling variety acts. This year the show is featuring such stars as Don Adams, comedy bicyclist; the Great Bedeu Troupe, teeterboard artists; Cole's famous military ponies; Happy Holmes, world famous clown and funmaker and many other noted artists. Several of them have made television appearances on such popular programs as the Milton Berle Show, Super Circus, Sealtest Big Top and the Kate Smith Hour.

Student Council will receive a large percentage of the advance ticket sales. The Council announces the public as well as students may secure tickets from any council member or at the high school office.

Mrs. Lillia Kavey Tells Sisterhoods Of Modern Israel

Mrs. Lillia Kavey addressed the annual Tri-Sisterhood meeting held in the Ahavath Israel Synagogue Wednesday evening. More than 600 attended at which Agudas Achim and Temple Emanuel Sisterhoods were guests of Ahavath Israel.

The welcoming address was given by Mrs. Murray Greene, president of the Sisterhood of Ahavath Israel. Mrs. David Kohn, wife of Rabbi Kohn of Ahavath Israel, presented the opening prayer.

Mrs. Greene introduced Mrs. Lillia Kavey, guest speaker. Mrs. Kavey emphasized the importance of unity among the people, and made the women feel that they play an important role in bringing and keeping Judaism alive in the home and in the community.

She pointed out that even in the most remote corners of the world, seen on her travels, Jewish people have kept their heritage alive even though they were presecuted for it.

Mrs. Kavey was in Israel in 1951, and on a return visit in 1953 she was amazed at the miracles that had taken place in two short years. Here people, traditionally Jews from different countries had united to rebuild the Jewish homeland, going back to the Bible for guidance.

She said that only because of this unity and willingness to sacrifice have the miracles of fertile land come to pass.

Following Mrs. Kavey's talk, refreshments were served in vestry hall. The two guest presidents poured.

Malenkov Declares Russia Is Against Cold War Policy

London, March 13 (AP)—Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov said last night Russia "takes a strong stand against the policy of a cold war" because this policy is preparation for a "world slaughter' that would destroy civilization.

Campaigning over Moscow radio for a Parliament seat in next Sunday's one-party elections, Malenkov said:

"We stand for peaceful economic competition of the Soviet Union with all capitalist countries, including, of course, the United States. The Soviet government is consistently following the view that any controversial question of today, difficult as it may be, can be solved by peaceful means.

"It is generally recognized," he added, "that 1953 brought some easing of world tension." He said the Soviet government "stands for a further reduction," and it is only a "myth" that she plans aggression.

A third world war, "with the existence of modern means of destruction, would mean destruction of world civilization," Malenkov declared.

He charged that the western countries "approach a solution of important international issues as a close military group which values aggressive strategic considerations uppermost."

This, according to Malenkov, is the main point blocking better East-West relations.

Iran Police Nab Most Wanted Man

Tehran, Iran, March 13 (AP)—Hossein Fatemi, Iran's "most wanted" man since last August, was picked up by police in a Tehran suburb today and jailed. Fatemi, a fiery Nationalist, was foreign minister under Mohammed Mossadegh until the forces of the Shah deposed Mossadegh last fall.

Soon after Fatemi was brought to police headquarters an ardent pro-Shah backer tried to wrest him away and kill him.

Black-bearded ex-wrestler Shaban Jafari stalked through the building's main lobby toward the corridor where Fatemi was being held.

Three soldiers with bayonets leveled at Jafari's huge belly stopped him at the door leading to the corridor. Pounding his chest, Jafari bawled:

"In the name of Allah, hand this man to me so that I can break him into little pieces. Long live the Shah. Down with Mossadegh and his followers."

The police were adamant and Jafari stomped out.

Fatemi, 36, fled into hiding during the bloody royalist coup which overthrew the Mossadegh regime Aug. 19. He first was reported "torn to bits" by an angry mob, then later was said to have escaped to Egypt or Syria.

But Premier Gen. Cazollah Zahedi, who led the anti-Mossadegh coup, has said all along he believed Fatemi was hiding somewhere in Tehran.

Fatemi was No. 1 aide to Mossadegh in pushing through Iran's nationalization bill which seized this country's rich petroleum industry from the British. His former boss already is serving a three-year solitary confinement sentence on charges of treason.

Carroll Is Sentenced On Bad Check Charge

Mineola, March 13 (AP)—Eugene J. Carroll, whom police say boasted he netted up to $800 a month looting dormitories at major colleges throughout the east, was sentenced to prison yesterday for passing a bad check in a food store.

Carroll, 26, father of five children, was given a 2½ to 10-year term. He was arrested last December when his wife, Joan, said he threatened to shoot her after she told him she was expecting their sixth child.

During questioning, police said, Carroll told of the dormitory burglaries.

Nott Terrace Edges Kingston 65 to 64 to Win Intersectionals

Newburgh Defeats Mont Pleasant High

Don't blame Coach G. Warren Kias if you hear of him changing the words of the old song, What a Difference a Day Makes.

He's likely to be heard altering that old popular tune to fit the outcome of two championship basketball games which his charges lost in heart-breaking style to something like this—What a Difference a Point Makes.

For the second straight titular clash, the one point difference cost Kingston High the intersectional championship Friday night in the spacious Troy High School gym where Nott Terrace of Schenectady outpointed the Maroons by 65 to 64 in a spectacular finish.

Only last Saturday night, Poughkeepsie High squeaked through with an 87 to 86 victory over the Maroons in the playoff battle for the DUSO League bunting at Midletown. Except for the difference in the final scoreboard tally, the script was about the same last night in a frenzied ball game which was undecided right down to the wire.

Newburgh Tops Monties

In the consolation fray last night, Newburgh came from behind a 33-26 half time deficit to upend Mont Pleasant by 68 to 64. Mickey Burkowski scored 19 of his 27 points in the final half to spearhead the Goldbacks to victory. Lou Jordan was high for Mont Pleasant with 17 markers.

The key to last night's defeat might be viewed as coming in the second period. After Kingston opened with a 15 to 13 lead at the end of the first period, the Maroons fell by the wayside as Nott Terrace, with Lou Sammo, Chuck Battaglia and Jay Smith carrying the attack, forged out in front at halftime by 34 to 23.

Late in the second canto, Coach Kias substituted Joe Markle for Skip Brodhead who finished out the last two minutes of the half.

Kingston staged one of its special second half comebacks in the third period with Dick Bezemer leading the onslaught with 11 points as the locals sliced Nott Terrace's lead to 46 to 45 at the end of the third canto. John Godwin, who tallied 12 of his 14 points in the final half, hit for five, Brodhead four and Bob Bondar two.

The one-point difference stood up although the lead exchanged hands several times during the course of the hectic final period of play.

With the score tied at 56-all with only a little more than four minutes left on the clock, Billy Haber put Kingston ahead by 58-56 only to have Ed Fazzone tie it up again at 58-58. Godwin took a rebound and swished the cords for Kingston, 60-58.

Bezemer Scores 21

Dick Bezemer, Kingston's flashy center, had to play it close to the vest in the waning minutes of the final quarter and this also hampered the Maroons. Bezemer, who clicked for 21 points all night, had four personal fouls late in the final quarter and with about 25 seconds left, he committed his fifth and left the game.

Kingston jumped to a four-point lead at the 2:25 mark on Brodhead's shot but Nott Terrace rammed back again on Smith's rebound to make it 62-60. Battaglia's jump shot tied the score again and was fouled on the play. Here a rhubarb ensued with Officials Cahill and Palone differing on the fouls awarded to the Nott Terrace cener. Battaglia was finally awarded two shots but missed both as the score remained 62-all.

Nott Terace took a two-point lead, 64-62, on Smith's rebound shot and a few seconds later Bezemer converted one of his two fouls to make at 64-63. With only 59 seconds left, Nott Terrace attempted to "freeze" the ball but Rod Roberts was fouled by Brodhead. He missed the first but made the second to make the score 65-62. Kingston's last basket came on Godwin's shot after he took a rebound to make it 65-64.

Nott Terrace put the "freeze" on again and that was the ball game.

Bezemer paced Kingston with 21 points while Godwin tallied 14, Skip Brodhead 12 and Bill Haber 10. Chuck Battaglia was high for the winners with 16. Jay Smith bucketed 14 and Lou Sammo 12.

Phil Cavarretta, manager of the Chicago Cubs, concluded his 19-season playing career in 1953. He played in 1953 games.

Valdes Registers Lacklustre Win

New York, March 13 (AP)—His prestige dimmed by a lacklustre victory over James J. Parker, big Nino Valdes of Cuba today planned a European invasion to bolster his chances for a September title shot at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

In fact his prestige was dimmed so much that Chairman Bob Christenberry of the New York State Athletic Commission said Valdez' check for $5,000 was being returned. The Cuban posted the $5,000 about three weeks ago as a challenge for Marciano's title.

"Off last night's fight we can't consider him a worthy challenger," said Christenberry but added "things can change by the time Marciano meets Ezzard Chares in June."

Valdes scored his seventh straight victory by outpointing the Canadian-born, Paterson, N. J., Parker at Madison Square Garden last night. The decision was unanimous but Nino failed to impress the crowd of 4,173 (gross gate $12,619) and televiewers across the nation.

The officials voted for Nino, 7-3, 6-3-1, and 7-2-1. The Associated Press had Valdes in front, 7-3.

"I hurt my right hand in the fourth round," said Valdes, "otherwise I knock him out in the sixth or seventh round."

Valdes weighed 211½ pounds, and Parker 210.

Jones Dairy Home Tonight; Weishaupt Holds 200 Mark

Local Leadoff Has Hit 15 Straight

Tonight's Schedule

Fogg-Nash at Jones Dairy
Arlington at Rapps
Elstons at Poughkeepsie Cabs
Schryvers at Po'keepsie Acad.

Jones Dairy hopes to increase its lead or at least protect the slim margin over the Poughkeepsie Cabs tonight when the front-running Hudson Valley Bowling League sharpers meet the Poughkeepsie Fogg-Nash on Alleys 7 and 8 at Ferraro's Bowlodrome at 9 o'clock.

At the same time, Larry Weishaupt, leadoff ace for the local combine, will try to extend his 200-game streak which has now hit 15 in a row.

The rest of the local HVBL representatives will find Rapp's Express entertaining the Poughkeepsie Arlingtons on Alleys 5-6 at the Bowlodrome while both Elston Sport Shop and Schryver Lumber are booked for appearances against the Poughkeepsie Cabs and Poughkeepsie Academy respectively. Elstons, of course, could help the Dairymen tremendously with a sweep or at least a double win over the second place Cabs.

As far as Weishaupt is concerned, he hasn't cracked a game lower than 200 since January 30 in HVBL competition. On that night he socked 183-178-193 for 554 against the Liberty Goody's and ever since he has been authoring a steady stream of 200 games.

During the span of those 15 games, Weishaupt has posted triple scores as 639, 690, 705, 628 and 666, a pretty fair string of bowling in any man's league.

Weishaupt, who is now the third top average bowler in the loop with a neat 203.56 mark, started his spectacular string of 200's on Feb. 6 against the Ellenville Economy Club when he hit 216-214-236 for 666. On Feb. 13, rolling against the Ellenville Shanahans, the Jones Dairy leadoff kegler struck 222-202-204 for 628.

Locals May Have Key

Meanwhile, the two Kingston teams—Jones Dairy and Elstons—might possibly hold the key to the eventual winner of the HVBL on the strength of their showing tonight. The Dairymen don't figure to have too much trouble with Fogg-Nash while Elstons are in a tremendous spot to do Jones Dairy a lot of good against the Cabs of Poughkeepsie.

According to the present standings, the Dairymen are out in front with a record of 62½ wins and 15½ losses while the Veteran Cabs are in second with 61-17. The Newburgh Tooheys are third with 60-18. And all this with only three weeks left on the schedule.

Ferraro at 212.7

Johnny Ferraro's 641 shot last week kept him high in the individual average listings with 212.7 in his 78 games. Phil Versace is the runnerup with 205.23 while Weishaupt is third with 203.56.

Thomas' Clouting May Help Pirates Forget Ralph Kiner

Cracks Two HRs In Rout of Braves

(By The Associated Press)

Frank Thomas, a 200-pound, six-foot three-inch outfielder with power in his bat, apparently is aiming to make Pittsburgh fans forget a pretty fair hitter by the name of Ralph Kiner who once wore a Pirate uniform.

When Kiner was traded to the Chicago Cubs last year, the 24-year old native of Pittsburgh took over the slugging chores. When the season was over the records showed he had hit 30 home runs, driven in 102 and batted .255.

And now the solidly built Thomas is at it again. He clouted two home runs yesterday as the Pirates routed the Mlilwaukee Braves 25-11 in an exhibition game at Brandenton, Fla. The two circuit blows ran his total for the last three games to four.

Pirates Catch On

Thomas' clouting seems to have been catching for the Pirates, generally picked to finish in the National League cellar for the third straight year. The Bucs connected with six homers against the Braves to run their total to 15 in their last three games.

Sid Gordon, obtained from the Braves during the winter, hit one for his second of the week-old exhibition season, and Jerry Lynch, Jack Lohrke and Brandy Davis added the others.

Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee's home run king, slammed three triples while Danny O'Connell, acquired in the Gordon trade, and Rookie Dick Sinovic hit homers for the Braves.

Del Ennis' two-run homers gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees and circuit drives played an important role in the triumph of the New York Giants.

The Giants snapped a four-game losing streak with a 13-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians as Willie Mays slammed his third and fourth homers of the season and rookie second baseman Ronnie Sanford and Whitey Lockman contributed one each.

Ennis' homer came off Whitey Ford, lefthander who figures to be the ace of the Yankee staff. Ford gave up three hits in three innings.

The Cincinnati Redlegs bunched their 11 hits effectively to down a makeshift collection of Chicago White Sox rookies 11-7. Rocky Bridges, a .227 hitter for Cincinnati last season, drove in four runs.

The Baltimore Orioles chalked up their sixth victory in seven games with a 14-9 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Homers in the sixth inning by Bill Serena, Ernie Banks and Hal Jeffcoat sent the Cubs ahead 9-6 but the Orioles came back with seven in the next two innings. The lone Baltimore homer was by Dick Kryhoski in the fifth with the bases empty.

Dodgers Edge Bosox

Four runs on one hit in the eighth inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-3 night victory over the Boston Red Sox and ended the American Leaguers' five-game winning streak. Willard Nixon and Skinny Brown shut out the National League champions with two hits, both off Nixon in the first, until the eighth when Jim Ehrler took over. The righthanded rookie walked four straight batters before giving way to Truman Clevenger. An infield out and error tied the score and Wayne Belardi's single drove in what proved to be the winning tally.

Russ Meyer pitched four innings as the Brooklyn starter and allowed two runs on four hits.

R. Schatzel Pounds 592

Rose Schatzel's hefty pin-busting enabled the Manhattan Bowling Ball squad to establish two new records in the Women's Classic Friday night at the Bowlodrome.

Mrs. Schatzel fired a progressive string of 195-197-200 for 592 as the Manhattan squad set up a new team single score of 922 and team triple mark of 2595 while copping three straight decisions from Leherbs.

Others reaching the top echelon were Betty Bailey with 213-522; Lorraine Ferraro 534; Nell Glennon 202-519; Shirley Buckman 546; Betty Shipman 501; Charlotte Lapine 537 and Tess Moss 205-520.

Also of note were Dot Donnaruma with 478; Thelma Clausi 490; Fritzie Davis 452; Dot LaRocca 471; Helen Broski 483; Phyl Roosa 480; Dolores Bailey 494; Laura LaMay 473.

Team results:

Manhattan Bowling Balls 3, Leherbs 0; Yonnetti Decorators 2, Smith-Parish Roofing 1; Excello Shirts 3, Red McDermott Tavern 0; Rowe's Shoe Store 2, Sickler's Delivery 1.

Bob Habenicht, rookie pitcher with the Baltimore Orioles, has a law degree from St. Louis University.

Notre Dame Tops Hoosiers, 65-64 In NCAA Tourney

New York, March 13 (AP)—With the defending champion on the outside looking in, Notre Dame loomed today as the team to beat in the NCAA post-season basketball tournament.

But the Irish, who stunned Indiana the 1953 winner, last night 65-64 must play Penn State, another upset-minded outfit tonight at Iowa City in the quarter-finals.

Other quarter-final games pit Navy against La Salle at Philadelphia, Bradley against Santa Clara at Corvallis, Ore. The winners will move on to the semi-finals and final next weekend in Kansas City.

It was ironic that Indiana, the Big 10 champion, should make its exit by one point, for last year the Hoosiers won the title by the same margin over Kansas.

But Notre Dame and Dick Rosenthal in particular, were not awed by the feared Hoosiers from Bloomington, Ind. Rosenthal dropped in 25 points, one a free throw 15 seconds before the end that provided the eventual margin of victory and completely throttled all-America Don Schlundt who made but one field goal.

18th Straight Win

Rosenthal collapsed and became ill during a timeout with a little more than a minute to play. He summoned enough strength, however, to play the final seconds. It was a fine all-around performance by the courageous youngster that brought the Irish their 18th straight victory.

Penn State for its part, upended Louisiana State 78-70 in the other half of the Iowa city doubleheader so Notre Dame will have its hands full.

The other round of 16 games did not provide any startling form reversals. La Salle whipped North Carolina State 88-81 and Navy edged Cornell 69-67 in Philadelphia; Oklahoma A. and M. slugged Rice 51-45 and Bradley turned back Colorado 76-64 at Stillwater. At Corvallis, Southern California dumped Idaho State 73-59 and Santa Clara halted Colorado A. and M. 73-50.

Penn State, an at-large entry like Notre Dame, couldn't do much with LSU's All-America, Bob Pettit, who scored 34 points, but they did stop his mates. Jesse Arnell was high man for Penn State with 24 points, but even more important was his all-around play. His superb faking and rebounding kept LSU, which had gone undefeated through the Southeastern Conference until losing in a playoff to Kentucky, completely off balance.

Gola Paces La Salle

Another All-America, Tom Gola of La Salle, had better luck than Pettit. He scored 26 points and grabbed the same number of rebounds in his team's triumph over North Carolina State. The game was close until the last five minutes.

The other half of the Philadelphia twin bill was a real thriller and unheralded Ken McCally turned out to be the big gun in Navy's victory over Cornell. It won't show in the box score because he made only one basket—but it was the winning one with three seconds to go.

Bradley's victory over Colorado was engineered to a great extent by Bob Carney who set a new NCAA record for free throws. He made 23 of them. Altogether he got 37 points. Seattle's Johnny O'Brien held the old foul record—18.

Aggies Rally to Win

Another upset looked to be in the making for three periods of the Oklahoma A and M-Rice contest. At one point in the third chapter, the Aggies trailed by 10 points, but they found the range in the final quarter and pulled away.

Roy Irvin was the big gun for Southern California, the Pacific coast champion. He scored 25 points. Colorado A and M held Ken Sears, Santa Clara's 6-9 high scorer, to 11 points. But where he left off Jim Young picked up, getting 20 points.

Two other post-season tournaments wind up tonight. In the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden, top-seeded Duquesne rules the favorite over Holy Cross. In the NAIA Tournament at Kansas City, St. Benedict's (Kan.) meets Western Illinois in the final.

May Leave Hospital

Cambridge, Mass., March 13 (AP)—Red Sox slugger Ted Williams—recuperating from an operation on his broken left collarbone—hopes to leave the hospital next Monday or Tuesday. The lanky $100,000-a-year baseball star expects to head back to Miami in about 10 days, but won't be able to do any batting or throwing until next month. Dr. Russell Sullivan, Williams' fishing pal who performed the operation last Tuesday to wire together the broken bones in the shoulder, gave that estimate yesterday.

Wrestling Giants Top Mat Card on March 18

Two of the biggest and meanest grapplers now performing in the east have been paired for the feature of a show at municipal auditorium next Thursday night, March 18, it was announced today.

They are Sky Hi Lee, 6-foot, 9-inch, 290 pound former Texan, and Tarzan "Killer" Kowalski, 6-foot, 7-inch, 270 pounder from Detroit, who will tangle for two out of three falls—provided Tudor Ac can find a ring sturdy enough to take the punishment.

And the styles of the principals assures that both will have plenty of troubles. Both go in for belts in the back with ham-like hands, knee lifts, forearm clouts and the like. Lee uses a terrific body slam to soften an opponent, while Kowalski's favorite "hold" is a knee drop across the chest—or neck, if he can get away with it—to put a foe out of commission.

Two more bouts will be signed to round out the program.

Knicks Play Nats Today

(By The Associated Press)

With but two days left in the regular season, it is possible that first place in both divisions of the National Basketball Association will not be decided until the final whistle is blown. The New York Knickerbockers, who already have clinched a tie for first in the Eastern Division, need one win in their two remaining games with Syracuse to assure them of the top spot. Two losses would tie them with the Nationals. They meet in a home and home series starting this afternoon in New York. The Western Division is just as tight. Minneapolis has also clinched a tie and can win it by beating Fort Wayne tonight. A Laker loss, coupled with Rochester wins tonight and tomorrow, would mean a deadlock between the two clubs.

Game on TV Today

Clearwater, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Today's "Grapefruit League" game between the Philadelphia Phillies and the Chicago White Sox will be televised nationally (ABC). It is the first network TV transmission of a spring training contest in major league history.

Nott Terrace Edges Kingston 65 to 64 to Win Intersectionals

Newburgh Defeats Mont Pleasant High

Don't blame Coach G. Warren Kias if you hear of him changing the words of the old song, What a Difference a Day Makes.

He's likely to be heard altering that old popular tune to fit the outcome of two championship basketball games which his charges lost in heart-breaking style to something like this—What a Difference a Point Makes.

For the second straight titular clash, the one point difference cost Kingston High the intersectional championship Friday night in the spacious Troy High School gym where Nott Terrace of Schenectady outpointed the Maroons by 65 to 64 in a spectacular finish.

Only last Saturday night, Poughkeepsie High squeaked through with an 87 to 86 victory over the Maroons in the playoff battle for the DUSO League bunting at Midletown. Except for the difference in the final scoreboard tally, the script was about the same last night in a frenzied ball game which was undecided right down to the wire.

Newburgh Tops Monties

In the consolation fray last night, Newburgh came from behind a 33-26 half time deficit to upend Mont Pleasant by 68 to 64. Mickey Burkowski scored 19 of his 27 points in the final half to spearhead the Goldbacks to victory. Lou Jordan was high for Mont Pleasant with 17 markers.

The key to last night's defeat might be viewed as coming in the second period. After Kingston opened with a 15 to 13 lead at the end of the first period, the Maroons fell by the wayside as Nott Terrace, with Lou Sammo, Chuck Battaglia and Jay Smith carrying the attack, forged out in front at halftime by 34 to 23.

Late in the second canto, Coach Kias substituted Joe Markle for Skip Brodhead who finished out the last two minutes of the half.

Kingston staged one of its special second half comebacks in the third period with Dick Bezemer leading the onslaught with 11 points as the locals sliced Nott Terrace's lead to 46 to 45 at the end of the third canto. John Godwin, who tallied 12 of his 14 points in the final half, hit for five, Brodhead four and Bob Bondar two.

The one-point difference stood up although the lead exchanged hands several times during the course of the hectic final period of play.

With the score tied at 56-all with only a little more than four minutes left on the clock, Billy Haber put Kingston ahead by 58-56 only to have Ed Fazzone tie it up again at 58-58. Godwin took a rebound and swished the cords for Kingston, 60-58.

Bezemer Scores 21

Dick Bezemer, Kingston's flashy center, had to play it close to the vest in the waning minutes of the final quarter and this also hampered the Maroons. Bezemer, who clicked for 21 points all night, had four personal fouls late in the final quarter and with about 25 seconds left, he committed his fifth and left the game.

Kingston jumped to a four-point lead at the 2:25 mark on Brodhead's shot but Nott Terrace rammed back again on Smith's rebound to make it 62-60. Battaglia's jump shot tied the score again and was fouled on the play. Here a rhubarb ensued with Officials Cahill and Palone differing on the fouls awarded to the Nott Terrace cener. Battaglia was finally awarded two shots but missed both as the score remained 62-all.

Nott Terace took a two-point lead, 64-62, on Smith's rebound shot and a few seconds later Bezemer converted one of his two fouls to make at 64-63. With only 59 seconds left, Nott Terrace attempted to "freeze" the ball but Rod Roberts was fouled by Brodhead. He missed the first but made the second to make the score 65-62. Kingston's last basket came on Godwin's shot after he took a rebound to make it 65-64.

Nott Terrace put the "freeze" on again and that was the ball game.

Bezemer paced Kingston with 21 points while Godwin tallied 14, Skip Brodhead 12 and Bill Haber 10. Chuck Battaglia was high for the winners with 16. Jay Smith bucketed 14 and Lou Sammo 12.

Phil Cavarretta, manager of the Chicago Cubs, concluded his 19-season playing career in 1953. He played in 1953 games.

Valdes Registers Lacklustre Win

New York, March 13 (AP)—His prestige dimmed by a lacklustre victory over James J. Parker, big Nino Valdes of Cuba today planned a European invasion to bolster his chances for a September title shot at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

In fact his prestige was dimmed so much that Chairman Bob Christenberry of the New York State Athletic Commission said Valdez' check for $5,000 was being returned. The Cuban posted the $5,000 about three weeks ago as a challenge for Marciano's title.

"Off last night's fight we can't consider him a worthy challenger," said Christenberry but added "things can change by the time Marciano meets Ezzard Chares in June."

Valdes scored his seventh straight victory by outpointing the Canadian-born, Paterson, N. J., Parker at Madison Square Garden last night. The decision was unanimous but Nino failed to impress the crowd of 4,173 (gross gate $12,619) and televiewers across the nation.

The officials voted for Nino, 7-3, 6-3-1, and 7-2-1. The Associated Press had Valdes in front, 7-3.

"I hurt my right hand in the fourth round," said Valdes, "otherwise I knock him out in the sixth or seventh round."

Valdes weighed 211½ pounds, and Parker 210.

Jones Dairy Home Tonight; Weishaupt Holds 200 Mark

Local Leadoff Has Hit 15 Straight

Tonight's Schedule

Fogg-Nash at Jones Dairy
Arlington at Rapps
Elstons at Poughkeepsie Cabs
Schryvers at Po'keepsie Acad.

Jones Dairy hopes to increase its lead or at least protect the slim margin over the Poughkeepsie Cabs tonight when the front-running Hudson Valley Bowling League sharpers meet the Poughkeepsie Fogg-Nash on Alleys 7 and 8 at Ferraro's Bowlodrome at 9 o'clock.

At the same time, Larry Weishaupt, leadoff ace for the local combine, will try to extend his 200-game streak which has now hit 15 in a row.

The rest of the local HVBL representatives will find Rapp's Express entertaining the Poughkeepsie Arlingtons on Alleys 5-6 at the Bowlodrome while both Elston Sport Shop and Schryver Lumber are booked for appearances against the Poughkeepsie Cabs and Poughkeepsie Academy respectively. Elstons, of course, could help the Dairymen tremendously with a sweep or at least a double win over the second place Cabs.

As far as Weishaupt is concerned, he hasn't cracked a game lower than 200 since January 30 in HVBL competition. On that night he socked 183-178-193 for 554 against the Liberty Goody's and ever since he has been authoring a steady stream of 200 games.

During the span of those 15 games, Weishaupt has posted triple scores as 639, 690, 705, 628 and 666, a pretty fair string of bowling in any man's league.

Weishaupt, who is now the third top average bowler in the loop with a neat 203.56 mark, started his spectacular string of 200's on Feb. 6 against the Ellenville Economy Club when he hit 216-214-236 for 666. On Feb. 13, rolling against the Ellenville Shanahans, the Jones Dairy leadoff kegler struck 222-202-204 for 628.

Locals May Have Key

On Feb. 20 in the crucial match against the Newburgh Tooheys, Weishaupt helped spark his team to a three-game sweep with 214-257-235 for 705. Against Schryver Lumber on Feb. 27, Weishaupt cracked 231-235-214 for 680 and last week in the team's sweep over Elston Sport Shop, Weishaupt continued with 223-211-205 for 639.

Meanwhile, the two Kingston teams—Jones Dairy and Elstons—might possibly hold the key to the eventual winner of the HVBL on the strength of their showing tonight. The Dairymen don't figure to have too much trouble with Fogg-Nash while Elstons are in a tremendous spot to do Jones Dairy a lot of good against the Cabs of Poughkeepsie.

According to the present standings, the Dairymen are out in front with a record of 62½ wins and 15½ losses while the Veteran Cabs are in second with 61-17. The Newburgh Tooheys are third with 60-18. And all this with only three weeks left on the schedule.

Ferraro at 212.7

Johnny Ferraro's 641 shot last week kept him high in the individual average listings with 212.7 in his 78 games. Phil Versace is the runnerup with 205.23 while Weishaupt is third with 203.56.

Thomas' Clouting May Help Pirates Forget Ralph Kiner

Cracks Two HRs In Rout of Braves

(By The Associated Press)

Frank Thomas, a 200-pound, six-foot three-inch outfielder with power in his bat, apparently is aiming to make Pittsburgh fans forget a pretty fair hitter by the name of Ralph Kiner who once wore a Pirate uniform.

When Kiner was traded to the Chicago Cubs last year, the 24-year old native of Pittsburgh took over the slugging chores. When the season was over the records showed he had hit 30 home runs, driven in 102 and batted .255.

And now the solidly built Thomas is at it again. He clouted two home runs yesterday as the Pirates routed the Mlilwaukee Braves 25-11 in an exhibition game at Brandenton, Fla. The two circuit blows ran his total for the last three games to four.

Pirates Catch On

Thomas' clouting seems to have been catching for the Pirates, generally picked to finish in the National League cellar for the third straight year. The Bucs connected with six homers against the Braves to run their total to 15 in their last three games.

Sid Gordon, obtained from the Braves during the winter, hit one for his second of the week-old exhibition season, and Jerry Lynch, Jack Lohrke and Brandy Davis added the others.

Eddie Mathews, Milwaukee's home run king, slammed three triples while Danny O'Connell, acquired in the Gordon trade, and Rookie Dick Sinovic hit homers for the Braves.

Del Ennis' two-run homers gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees and circuit drives played an important role in the triumph of the New York Giants.

The Giants snapped a four-game losing streak with a 13-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians as Willie Mays slammed his third and fourth homers of the season and rookie second baseman Ronnie Sanford and Whitey Lockman contributed one each.

Ennis' homer came off Whitey Ford, lefthander who figures to be the ace of the Yankee staff. Ford gave up three hits in three innings.

The Cincinnati Redlegs bunched their 11 hits effectively to down a makeshift collection of Chicago White Sox rookies 11-7. Rocky Bridges, a .227 hitter for Cincinnati last season, drove in four runs.

The Baltimore Orioles chalked up their sixth victory in seven games with a 14-9 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Homers in the sixth inning by Bill Serena, Ernie Banks and Hal Jeffcoat sent the Cubs ahead 9-6 but the Orioles came back with seven in the next two innings. The lone Baltimore homer was by Dick Kryhoski in the fifth with the bases empty.

Dodgers Edge Bosox

Four runs on one hit in the eighth inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-3 night victory over the Boston Red Sox and ended the American Leaguers' five-game winning streak. Willard Nixon and Skinny Brown shut out the National League champions with two hits, both off Nixon in the first, until the eighth when Jim Ehrler took over. The righthanded rookie walked four straight batters before giving way to Truman Clevenger. An infield out and error tied the score and Wayne Belardi's single drove in what proved to be the winning tally.

Russ Meyer pitched four innings as the Brooklyn starter and allowed two runs on four hits.

R. Schatzel Pounds 592

Rose Schatzel's hefty pin-busting enabled the Manhattan Bowling Ball squad to establish two new records in the Women's Classic Friday night at the Bowlodrome.

Mrs. Schatzel fired a progressive string of 195-197-200 for 592 as the Manhattan squad set up a new team single score of 922 and team triple mark of 2595 while copping three straight decisions from Leherbs.

Others reaching the top echelon were Betty Bailey with 213-522; Lorraine Ferraro 534; Nell Glennon 202-519; Shirley Buckman 546; Betty Shipman 501; Charlotte Lapine 537 and Tess Moss 205-520.

Also of note were Dot Donnaruma with 478; Thelma Clausi 490; Fritzie Davis 452; Dot LaRocca 471; Helen Broski 483; Phyl Roosa 480; Dolores Bailey 494; Laura LaMay 473.

Team results:

Manhattan Bowling Balls 3, Leherbs 0; Yonnetti Decorators 2, Smith-Parish Roofing 1; Excello Shirts 3, Red McDermott Tavern 0; Rowe's Shoe Store 2, Sickler's Delivery 1.

Bob Habenicht, rookie pitcher with the Baltimore Orioles, has a law degree from St. Louis University.

Notre Dame Tops Hoosiers, 65-64 In NCAA Tourney

New York, March 13 (AP)—With the defending champion on the outside looking in, Notre Dame loomed today as the team to beat in the NCAA post-season basketball tournament.

But the Irish, who stunned Indiana the 1953 winner, last night 65-64 must play Penn State, another upset-minded outfit tonight at Iowa City in the quarter-finals.

Other quarter-final games pit Navy against La Salle at Philadelphia, Bradley against Santa Clara at Corvallis, Ore. The winners will move on to the semi-finals and final next weekend in Kansas City.

It was ironic that Indiana, the Big 10 champion, should make its exit by one point, for last year the Hoosiers won the title by the same margin over Kansas.

But Notre Dame and Dick Rosenthal in particular, were not awed by the feared Hoosiers from Bloomington, Ind. Rosenthal dropped in 25 points, one a free throw 15 seconds before the end that provided the eventual margin of victory and completely throttled all-America Don Schlundt who made but one field goal.

18th Straight Win

Rosenthal collapsed and became ill during a timeout with a little more than a minute to play. He summoned enough strength, however, to play the final seconds. It was a fine all-around performance by the courageous youngster that brought the Irish their 18th straight victory.

Penn State for its part, upended Louisiana State 78-70 in the other half of the Iowa city doubleheader so Notre Dame will have its hands full.

The other round of 16 games did not provide any startling form reversals. La Salle whipped North Carolina State 88-81 and Navy edged Cornell 69-67 in Philadelphia; Oklahoma A. and M. slugged Rice 51-45 and Bradley turned back Colorado 76-64 at Stillwater. At Corvallis, Southern California dumped Idaho State 73-59 and Santa Clara halted Colorado A. and M. 73-50.

Penn State, an at-large entry like Notre Dame, couldn't do much with LSU's All-America, Bob Pettit, who scored 34 points, but they did stop his mates. Jesse Arnell was high man for Penn State with 24 points, but even more important was his all-around play. His superb faking and rebounding kept LSU, which had gone undefeated through the Southeastern Conference until losing in a playoff to Kentucky, completely off balance.

Gola Paces La Salle

Another All-America, Tom Gola of La Salle, had better luck than Pettit. He scored 26 points and grabbed the same number of rebounds in his team's triumph over North Carolina State. The game was close until the last five minutes.

The other half of the Philadelphia twin bill was a real thriller and unheralded Ken McCally turned out to be the big gun in Navy's victory over Cornell. It won't show in the box score because he made only one basket—but it was the winning one with three seconds to go.

Bradley's victory over Colorado was engineered to a great extent by Bob Carney who set a new NCAA record for free throws. He made 23 of them. Altogether he got 37 points. Seattle's Johnny O'Brien held the old foul record—18.

Aggies Rally to Win

Another upset looked to be in the making for three periods of the Oklahoma A and M-Rice contest. At one point in the third chapter, the Aggies trailed by 10 points, but they found the range in the final quarter and pulled away.

Roy Irvin was the big gun for Southern California, the Pacific coast champion. He scored 25 points. Colorado A and M held Ken Sears, Santa Clara's 6-9 high scorer, to 11 points. But where he left off Jim Young picked up, getting 20 points.

Two other post-season tournaments wind up tonight. In the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden, top-seeded Duquesne rules the favorite over Holy Cross. In the NAIA Tournament at Kansas City, St. Benedict's (Kan.) meets Western Illinois in the final.

May Leave Hospital

Cambridge, Mass., March 13 (AP)—Red Sox slugger Ted Williams—recuperating from an operation on his broken left collarbone—hopes to leave the hospital next Monday or Tuesday. The lanky $100,000-a-year baseball star expects to head back to Miami in about 10 days, but won't be able to do any batting or throwing until next month. Dr. Russell Sullivan, Williams' fishing pal who performed the operation last Tuesday to wire together the broken bones in the shoulder, gave that estimate yesterday.

Wrestling Giants Top Mat Card on March 18

Two of the biggest and meanest grapplers now performing in the east have been paired for the feature of a show at municipal auditorium next Thursday night, March 18, it was announced today.

They are Sky Hi Lee, 6-foot, 9-inch, 290 pound former Texan, and Tarzan "Killer" Kowalski, 6-foot, 7-inch, 270 pounder from Detroit, who will tangle for two out of three falls—provided Tudor Ac can find a ring sturdy enough to take the punishment.

And the styles of the principals assures that both will have plenty of troubles. Both go in for belts in the back with ham-like hands, knee lifts, forearm clouts and the like. Lee uses a terrific body slam to soften an opponent, while Kowalski's favorite "hold" is a knee drop across the chest—or neck, if he can get away with it—to put a foe out of commission.

Two more bouts will be signed to round out the program.

Knicks Play Nats Today

(By The Associated Press)

With but two days left in the regular season, it is possible that first place in both divisions of the National Basketball Association will not be decided until the final whistle is blown. The New York Knickerbockers, who already have clinched a tie for first in the Eastern Division, need one win in their two remaining games with Syracuse to assure them of the top spot. Two losses would tie them with the Nationals. They meet in a home and home series starting this afternoon in New York. The Western Division is just as tight. Minneapolis has also clinched a tie and can win it by beating Fort Wayne tonight. A Laker loss, coupled with Rochester wins tonight and tomorrow, would mean a deadlock between the two clubs.

Game on TV Today

Clearwater, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Today's "Grapefruit League" game between the Philadelphia Phillies and the Chicago White Sox will be televised nationally (ABC). It is the first network TV transmission of a spring training contest in major league history.

Ed Dasher Tops Classic With 653

Opening with a 246 blast, Ed Dasher came back with stick of 213 and 194 to lead the Classic League at the Bowlodrome Friday with his 653 series.

Seymour Markowitz was a near-miss from the 600 circle with his 244-596 effort.

Ken Powell lathered 234-583; Joe Wolf 207-205-583; Ronnie Mauro 201-212-581; Ralph Garofalo 565; Harold Broskie 237-550; Bill MacElveen 550.

Harry Secreto slammed 201-531; Bob Jones 209-530; Joe Ausanio 206-526; George Dunbar 528; Bud Greenburg 526; Warren Wood 523; Pete Fabiano 514; Jack Haulenbeck 508; Austin Hitchcock 508 and Tony LaRocco 507.

Team results:

Crusaders Pointing For Upset in NIT

New York, March 13—If basketball form holds true, as it has through most of the 17th National Invitation Tournament, Duquesne's Iron Dukes will beat Holy Cross tonight and take the title that has eluded them ever since they first went to the final round 14 years ago.

But Holy Cross is the only team to upset the dope so far in the tournament.

Until the Crusaders, the third-ranked team, spilled second-seeded western Kentucky 75-69 Thursday night, the favorites had won every game. And for the first time since the field was expanded to 12 teams, all four seeded teams reached the semi-finals.

On this basis, the fired-up Crusaders, urged on by the largest and noisiest rooting section of any of the tournament entries, figure to have a good chance of perpetrating another upset. At any rate, it should be an interesting clash between one of the best defensive aggregations, Holy Cross.

Th preliminary third-place game between Western Kentucky and Niagara (starting at 7:45 p. m., EST) may also have its bright moments.

Babe in Pursuit

Augusta, Ga., March 13 (AP)—"Here comes the Babe." That cry took on a double meaning today in the 15th Women's Titleholders Golf Tournament. Not only was it the watchword of the galleries; it also was a warning that Mildred Didrikson Zaharias had found the range and was gunning for her fourth titleholders crown and her third successive victory on the winter golf circuit. Atlanta's Louise Suggs held a two-stroke lead at 144 going into today's third round of the 72-hole tournament, but the Babe was in close pursuit. Mrs. Zaharias shattered the Augusta Country Club's competitive course record for women yesterday with a 35-35—70, two under men's par for the 6,627-yard course. She had a 146 total, four strokes ahead of defending champion Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill.

Miceli Bout on TV

Cincinnati, March 13 (AP)—Joe Miceli, the New York welterweight who has knocked out all three of his 1954 opponents in five rounds or less, tonight will battle John Lombardo of Mt. Carmel, Pa., in a scheduled 10-rounder. The 25-year-old Miceli is a slight favorite in the fight to be televised nationally over the ABC network starting at 9 p. m. (EST). Lombardo, 24, has lost 10 of his 41 professional matches. The fighters expect to weigh in at about 147.

Meet Again in Semis

Jacksonville, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Kurt Nielsen of Copenhagen, Denmark, who played for the Wimbledon title in England last summer, meet again in a semi-final match of the Masters Invitation tournament here today. Seixas won at Wimbledon and is top seeded in the Masters. Nielsen fought back from apparent defeat in the semi-final round to beat Gardnar Mulloy of Miami 6-3, 5-7, 12-10 yesterday.

Soil Test Clinics Scheduled in Area

A series of area soil test clinics have been scheduled for March 18 and 19, it was announced today by County Agricultural Agent William H. Palmer. Purpose of the tests is to determine lime needs. The schedule:

Thursday, March 18, 10 a. m. to 12 noon, Milton GLF Service, Route 9W between Highland traffic circle and Milton light.

Thursday, March 18, 1:30 p. m., to 3:30 p. m., Central Cooperative Association, Inc., Gardiner, on Route 44-45 by the railroad tracks.

Friday, March 19, 10 a. m. to 12 noon, Saugerties Highway Garage, Veteran, one mile west of the Thruway just off Route 212.

Friday, March 19, 1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m., Al Traver, Machinery Sales and Service, Accord, south of the vilage on Route 209.

Tests Are Required

Soil tests are required this year for the 1954 agricultural conservation and stabilization program (formerly PMA). On any field where lime assistance has been requested a soil test must accompany the request before the lime can be approved.

Palmer pointed out that soil tests were more accurate when the soil was dry enough for plowing and harrowing. "If your fields are wetter than that today take your soil samples immediately and dry them out before bringing them to the Soil Test Clinic most convenient for you. Bring about a pint of soil for each field or part of a field you want tested. The tests will be run there while you wait by your County Agricultural Agents.

"There may be some who are unable to attend one of the clinics. Soil samples may be brought to the County Agricultural Agent's office, 74 John street, Kingston, at any time. If an agent is there, the test can be made while you wait, otherwise leave the sample properly labeled and a report will be mailed to you."

Palmer suggested that the new bulletin, Soil Testing For Lime Needs, No. 903, might be helpful in taking the sample.

Indochina Railway

forces had pushed through openly to the railway between Hanoi and the Port of Haiphong. The rebels have mined the tracks in the past. In these attacks, however, small guerrilla bands operated secretly at night and then fled, avoiding an open fight.

In the mountainous northwest, the Vietminh struck at the French supply line to Dien Bien Phu, leveling 75mm fire on the isolated position's air strip.

May Mean Big Attack

The French said some of the force of 36,000 to 48,000 enemy troops surrounding Dien Bien Phu also moved within two miles of the heavily fortified plain.

It was not known yet whether the moves foreshadowed a big attack on the position, which is France's last stronghold in Indochina's northern hills.

The French say they are confident their heavy fire power could beat off any Vietminh assault and inflict heavy enemy losses.

Crusaders Pointing For Upset in NIT

New York, March 13—If basketball form holds true, as it has through most of the 17th National Invitation Tournament, Duquesne's Iron Dukes will beat Holy Cross tonight and take the title that has eluded them ever since they first went to the final round 14 years ago.

But Holy Cross is the only team to upset the dope so far in the tournament.

Until the Crusaders, the third-ranked team, spilled second-seeded western Kentucky 75-69 Thursday night, the favorites had won every game. And for the first time since the field was expanded to 12 teams, all four seeded teams reached the semi-finals.

On this basis, the fired-up Crusaders, urged on by the largest and noisiest rooting section of any of the tournament entries, figure to have a good chance of perpetrating another upset. At any rate, it should be an interesting clash between one of the best defensive aggregations, Holy Cross.

Th preliminary third-place game between Western Kentucky and Niagara (starting at 7:45 p. m., EST) may also have its bright moments.

Babe in Pursuit

Augusta, Ga., March 13 (AP)—"Here comes the Babe." That cry took on a double meaning today in the 15th Women's Titleholders Golf Tournament. Not only was it the watchword of the galleries; it also was a warning that Mildred Didrikson Zaharias had found the range and was gunning for her fourth titleholders crown and her third successive victory on the winter golf circuit. Atlanta's Louise Suggs held a two-stroke lead at 144 going into today's third round of the 72-hole tournament, but the Babe was in close pursuit. Mrs. Zaharias shattered the Augusta Country Club's competitive course record for women yesterday with a 35-35—70, two under men's par for the 6,627-yard course. She had a 146 total, four strokes ahead of defending champion Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill.

Miceli Bout on TV

Cincinnati, March 13 (AP)—Joe Miceli, the New York welterweight who has knocked out all three of his 1954 opponents in five rounds or less, tonight will battle John Lombardo of Mt. Lombardo, 24, has lost 10 of his 41 professional matches. The fighters expect to weigh in at about 147.

Meet Again in Semis

Jacksonville, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia and Kurt Nielsen of Copenhagen, Denmark, who played for the Wimbledon title in England last summer, meet again in a semi-final match of the Masters Invitation tournament here today. Seixas won at Wimbledon and is top seeded in the Masters. Nielsen fought back from apparent defeat in the semi-final round to beat Gardnar Mulloy of Miami 6-3, 5-7, 12-10 yesterday.

Soil Test Clinics Scheduled in Area

A series of area soil test clinics have been scheduled for March 18 and 19, it was announced today by County Agricultural Agent William H. Palmer. Purpose of the tests is to determine lime needs. The schedule:

Thursday, March 18, 10 a. m. to 12 noon, Milton GLF Service, Route 9W between Highland traffic circle and Milton light.

Thursday, March 18, 1:30 p. m., to 3:30 p. m., Central Cooperative Association, Inc., Gardiner, on Route 44-45 by the railroad tracks.

Friday, March 19, 10 a. m. to 12 noon, Saugerties Highway Garage, Veteran, one mile west of the Thruway just off Route 212.

Friday, March 19, 1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m., Al Traver, Machinery Sales and Service, Accord, south of the vilage on Route 209.

Tests Are Required

Soil tests are required this year for the 1954 agricultural conservation and stabilization program (formerly PMA). On any field where lime assistance has been requested a soil test must accompany the request before the lime can be approved.

Palmer pointed out that soil tests were more accurate when the soil was dry enough for plowing and harrowing. "If your fields are wetter than that today take your soil samples immediately and dry them out before bringing them to the Soil Test Clinic most convenient for you. Bring about a pint of soil for each field or part of a field you want tested. The tests will be run there while you wait by your County Agricultural Agents.

"There may be some who are unable to attend one of the clinics. Soil samples may be brought to the County Agricultural Agent's office, 74 John street, Kingston, at any time. If an agent is there, the test can be made while you wait, otherwise leave the sample properly labeled and a report will be mailed to you."

Palmer suggested that the new bulletin, Soil Testing For Lime Needs, No. 903, might be helpful in taking the sample.

Indochina Railway

forces had pushed through openly to the railway between Hanoi and the Port of Haiphong. The rebels have mined the tracks in the past. In these attacks, however, small guerrilla bands operated secretly at night and then fled, avoiding an open fight.

In the mountainous northwest, the Vietminh struck at the French supply line to Dien Bien Phu, leveling 75mm fire on the isolated position's air strip.

May Mean Big Attack

The French said some of the force of 36,000 to 48,000 enemy troops surrounding Dien Bien Phu also moved within two miles of the heavily fortified plain.

It was not known yet whether the moves foreshadowed a big attack on the position, which is France's last stronghold in Indochina's northern hills.

The French say they are confident their heavy fire power could beat off any Vietminh assault and inflict heavy enemy losses.

Edward Hixon, 54, of Marlborough, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh for treatment of severe contusions of the left hip and back received when he was struck by an automobile on Route 9W at Marlborough about 6:25 p. m. Friday, state police reported.

Troopers said Hixon was walking across the highway from east to west when he was struck by the left front fender of an automobile driven by Joseph Hasting, 52, of Broad street, West Hurley. Five Die in Fire That Destroys Apartment

New London, Conn., March 13 (AP)—A dingy apartment in a blighted area went up in flames here early today killing five persons.

Nineteen escaped, some through the heroism of off duty sailors from the nearby U. S. navy submarine base.

Sailors flocking to the scene from New London's night spots, closing at just about the time the fire broke out, aided firemen and policemen in catching men, women and children who dropped from second and third floor windows.

None of the occupants, all living above the street level, escaped through normal exits.

The dead:

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sawicki, each about 40, occupants of a second floor rear apartment.

Mrs. Gregory Ortiz, 27, and her daughter, Olgita, 4, in a third floor front apartment.

Mrs. Amelia Pina, 34, also a third floor occupant.

The fire was discovered by Policeman Walter Petchark, who said he himself caught two children but in the confusion did not know who they were.

Investigating wisps of smoke he saw coming from the building, Petchark was greeted by a burst of flame as he opened the door. He also heard explosions, he said, probably from fuel oil.

The three-story building, of brick and wood construction, is in an area that has been officially designed as blighted by a local development commission. The commission has recommended a slum clearance project, but no action has been taken.

Season cheese sauce with mustard, paprika and Worcestershire sauce and serve over sliced hard-cooked eggs and buttered toast for a savory luncheon dish.
